Cease-Fire Comes To War-Weary Viet

RETURN FROM SOUTHEAST ASIA. ★ ★ ★ Scattered Firing Erupts ★ ★ ★

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Separate cease-fires proclaimed by the Communists and the Allies came to war-weary Viet Nam today amid the jubilation and solemnity of the lunar New Year holiday. But scattered fighting erupted after the hours set by each side for the start of the brief peace.

A flurry of Viet Cong attacks came about midnight when the four-day truce announced by the Communists was supposed to begin. But a South Vietnamese military spokesman said his government had decided the Viet Cong truce did not begin until 1 a.m.

The first incident after the commencement of the 78-hour Allied truce at noon (11 p.m. EST Wednesday) occurred seven miles west of Tuy Hoa, along the central coast, when a Viet Cong company fired on men of the U.S. 101st Airborne Brigade at 1:50 p.m. The paratroopers returned the shots, killing one Viet Cong but incurring no injuries to themselves, a military spokesman said.

In the morning hours up to the Allied truce, U.S. jets and Guam-based B52s pounded Viet Cong positions in Tay Ninh Province, 68 miles northest of Saigon, adjoining the Cambodian frontier.

U.S. Marines encountered the Viet Cong 17 times in the 24 hours leading up to the Allied truce and killed two and wounded four in the skirmishes, according to reports from Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

On the ground, the Viet Cong exploded a mine after sunrise in the Trung Lap area, 20 miles north of Saigon, wounding four U.S. infantrymen moving up a road. About the same time, the Viet Cong scored seven hits on an unarmed U.S. helicopter bringing food and water to infantrymen near Trung Lap, narrowly missing the pilot.

U.S. military spokesman said the incidents showed that not all the guerrillas may be under tight control.

While Vietnamese of all political persuasion joined the national celebration, it was a tense holiday for Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's seven-month-old government. It was reported to have arrested a number of junior army officers for allegedly plotting its overthrow and to be keeping two generals under surveillance.

A spokesman for the 35-year-old premier declined to confirm or deny the reports but insisted there had been no move to topple the government. When Ky, commander of the air force, and his "Young Turks" took power last July, they displaced many older generals still chafing to return to the seat of power.

Rumors of a coup swept Saigon last weekend during the visit of U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman when Ky moved tanks and bazookas around the premier's residence. Most of the top military brass was in the city at an armed forces congress. Any sudden troops movements in this capital usually stir speculation that some faction may be attempting a power grab.

U. S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen agreed that the Viet Cong appeared to be abiding by their pledge to halt hostilities, but different interpretations of Hanoi time caused confusion as to whether they had breached their truce with the midnight attacks.

When the underground Communist radio announced the truce three weeks ago, it said the Viet Cong would not launch any attacks from midnight, Jan. 19, to midnight, Jan. 23, Hanoi time. U. S. and South Vietnamese said this meant the truce would begin at 11 p.m. Jan. 19, Saigon time.

Today a South Vietnamese government spokesman said midnight in Hanoi was 1 a.m. in

McNamara Asks OK Of Viet Funds

Presents Argument To Joint Meeting Of Senate Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara urged Congress today to approve $12.76 billion as an additional installment on the cost of the war in Viet Nam.

He cautioned "we must be prepared to deploy even more forces" if the Communists expand their operations in South Viet Nam.

McNamara presented his argument for the additional funds before a joint meeting of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

McNamara gave a point-by-point explanation of how the money would be used and why it is needed. Many of the details had been explained earlier.

McNamara noted the United States has deployed about 190,000 military personnel to South Viet Nam, not including the members of the 7th Fleet operating off the embattled country's coast.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of both the committee and subcommittee, planned only two days of hearings. But there were ample signs that Congress intends to take its time in examining every aspect of the Viet Nam problem and related defense issues before its expected approval of the fund request, probably in March.

Two senators served notice Wednesday night that the President's request will be fully debated when it reaches the Senate floor.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said he felt there should be "no limitation on debate," and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., assured him there would not be.

Clark said he did not know how he will vote, "but the proposal should be fully debated."

"It will be fully debated," Morse declared. He strongly opposes U.S. policies on Viet Nam.

In other developments:

—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman returned to Washington Wednesday night to report to President Johnson on their meetings with various world leaders. Their arrival sets the stage for top-level conferences to map future military and diplomatic strategy on Viet Nam. Rusk and Harriman said other nations understand clearly now that the United States wants peace in Southeast Asia. Various governments "volunteered to do what they could in their own way with Moscow, Hanoi and Peking to achieve a peaceful solution." Harriman

Also Seeks To Erase Electoral College Plan

Johnson Makes Proposal For 4-Year House Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress today to approve a constitutional amendment to provide a four-year term for members of the House "in the interest of progressive and sound modern government."

He also urged approval of another constitutional amendment to wipe out the present Electoral College system of casting votes for president and vice president. Instead of voting for electors, ballots would be cast directly for an electoral vote based on one vote for each member of the House and Senate from the state.

Johnson said in a special message to congress that debate over the length of the House term began in the Constitutional Convention when James Madison argued for a three-year term and some advocated a one-year term. A two-year compromise resulted.

Johnson asked last year for an amendment to eliminate the Electoral College — although retaining the present system of allocating electoral votes. But a busy Congress kept putting it off. Now he's asking again.

The President's aim is to insure that all of the electoral votes of a state go to the presidential candidate who gets the most votes in the state's general election. To achieve it he would end the practice — in effect for 179 years — of having presidential electors cast the electoral votes.

He is proposing instead that the state's electoral votes — equal to the number of representatives and senators they have — go automatically to the winner of the state's popular vote.

The proposal for extending the present two-year house terms to four years, which was wildly applauded by House members when Johnson mentioned it in his State of the Union message last week, has been arousing many second thoughts among members.

Johnson wants the four-year terms to coincide with presidential terms, but apparently few House members go along with him. They fear a House elected only when a president was running would be too easily turned into a "coattail" Congress, losing its independent voice.

There is strong support for an amendment to divide House seats so half of the four-year terms would expire every two years. But such a proposal, which has support from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and his GOP counterpart Everett M. Dirksen, would raise serious technical difficulties.

President's Truce Drive Nearing End

Hanoi Fails To Respond To Efforts For Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of early negotiations to end the Vietnamese war appears to be fading rapidly as President Johnson's public peace offensive draws to a close without any favorable response from North Viet Nam.

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman — the first of Johnson's peace emissaries to fly abroad and the last to come home — returned Wednesday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk from the Far East.

Their arrival set the stage for top-level conferences on U.S. military and diplomatic strategy in the next phase of this struggle. These may be held next week. The central questions before President Johnson are whether to start bombing North Viet Nam targets again and whether to escalate the war in other respects.

Rusk and Harriman told newsmen upon their arrival at Andrews Air Force Base that nations around the world now understand the U.S. aim is to bring the war to a peaceful conclusion.

"I have the impression that the situation is much clearer to nations right around the world and the issues are there for all to see," Rusk said.

Holt Elected New Premier Of Australia

Menzies, 71, Steps Down From Post Because Of His Age

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Harold E. Holt, Australia's new prime minister, must have wondered many times if he would ever make it. But his mentor, Sir Robert Menzies, finally retired today.

Menzies, 71, resigned because of his age, and members of his Liberal party in Parliament elected Holt party leader and head of the government, posts which Menzies had held for the past 16 years.

"The affairs of the world at large and of Australia in a period of rapid developments are increasing in weight and complexity," Menzies said. "They demand the services of men and women full of vigor and flexibility of mind, feeling at their best and able to do their best."

Government sources said Menzies also intends to resign his parliamentary seat for the Kooyong District of Victoria State.

The succession of Holt, 57, was a foregone conclusion. He had been deputy Liberal leader since 1956, federal treasurer since 1958 and Menzies' close confidant and adviser since Holt was first elected to Parliament in 1935.

Like Menzies, Holt graduated in law from Melbourne University. He retains an interest in a Sydney law firm but does not practice.

He was first elected to Parliament at the age of 27 and served in Menzies' first Cabinet, 1939-41. The prime minister recalled him from the army after three Cabinet ministers were killed in a plane crash.

Holt became a minister again when Menzies was re-elected in 1949 and has headed the labor and national service, immigration and treasury portfolios.

As the Menzies era moved well into its second decade, it began to look as if he would never retire. But while Holt

Midland Principal Plans To Retire From Position

William A. Walters, principal at Midland High School for the past 10 years, will retire from that post at the end of the school term, but plans to continue teaching mathematics in another area school system.

Sixty-five is the age limit for serving as principal followed by mandatory retirement.

A native of Steelton, Pa. Walters has been a coach, teacher and principal for 38 years. He received a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Lebanon College and a master's degree in education administration from the University of Pittsburgh.

Walters also has announced that he will resign from the WPIAL football committee due to his retirement from the Midland School system. He has been on the WPIAL group for the past seven years.

Walters joined the Midland teaching staff in 1926 and remained, holding basketball and football coach posts and teaching, until 1945 when he transferred to West Allis, Wis.

He returned to Midland three years later and was employed at Crucible, then resumed teaching, first at Conneaut, Ohio, then in East Liverpool.

Some College Students May Be Drafted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey has indicated some college students may face induction if draft calls continue to run above 30,000 monthly.

"I think 30,000 as a diet is too great for us; that's 360,000 a year," Hershey said, apparently meaning that if calls exceed that figure college students who fail to meet specified requirements may be drafted. Monthly draft calls lately have been running around 40,000.

As for the requirements, Hershey said "the odds are strong" there will be a return to a system of testing and consideration of class standing, as was used during the Korean War, in granting deferments to college students. The draft director met during the day with Eastern and Midwestern state draft directors.

He said a decision will have to be made within the next 10 days—by Feb. 1—in order for any testing to begin before the end of the current academic year. The results would apply then for the 1966-67 college year.

Local draft boards could use the results as guides in deciding on student deferments. But Hershey emphasized that the local boards are not required to follow the test results.

Tax Bill OK By March 15 Johnson Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson wants his new tax bill passed and on his desk before March 15 to help pay for the war in Viet Nam.

That is what the President Wednesday told Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as Mills opened hearings on the proposed legislation.

Both the President and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, first witness before the committee, emphasized that the administration has this choice: Accept budget deficit of $6.5 billion in the coming year, or raise some taxes.

"I choose to raise the money," Johnson said in a letter to Mills.

But he said he decided against raising corporate or personal income taxes.

Instead, the $4.8-billion tax increase package includes a speedup of income tax withholding payments for individuals and for corporate payments, delaying cuts in excise taxes for autos and telephone calls which actually went in to effect Jan. 1, and making self - employed persons pay Social Security taxes quarterly instead of at the end of the year.

City Police Nab 5 Youths In Carry-Out Store Entry

Tipped off by an alert passerby, East Liverpool police interrupted a burglary late Wednesday night at a carry-out beer store virtually within sight of City Hall, jailed five youths and recovered 32 bottles of wine and liquor and 10 cartons of cigarettes.

Although all five fled on foot, abandoning their auto, when the police approached, two of the young men later were taken into custody and their interrogation quickled led to the arrest of the other three. Chief A. J. Radeschi said.

The five are due to appear this afternoon at 2 before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon, charged with the burlgary at Alex's Carry-Out at 613 Jackson St., operated by James Cunningham, police reported.

The age of one of the boys was listed as 18, which would subject him to prosecution as an adult, but the chief said his name will not be made public until his age has been verified. The names of defendants under 18 — prosecuted in Juvenile Court — seldom are made public.

Police reported the investigation was touched off at 11:41 last night when a man walked into headquarters and told Patrolman Robert Pyle, desk officer, that he had seen someone moving about in the closed carry-out store.

Cruisers driven by Patrolman Jack Strobel and Paul A. Burson were dispatched to the scene. Patrolman Burson spotted one suspect fleeing the scene on foot. Officers Burson and Strobel pursued the suspect in a cruiser, but lost him in the vicinity of E. 3rd St. and Peach Alley, police said.

The officers found 32 bottles of vodka and wine and the cigarettes just outside a door on the west side of the building, close to a door which had been forced open. All the merchandise was returned to the owner except a few bottles retained for evidence.

At 12:19 a. m., two boys were

Tax Bill OK By March 15 Johnson Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson wants his new tax bill passed and on his desk before March 15 to help pay for the war in Viet Nam.

That is what the President Wednesday told Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as Mills opened hearings on the proposed legislation.

Both the President and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, first witness before the committee, emphasized that the administration has this choice: Accept budget deficit of $6.5 billion in the coming year, or raise some taxes.

"I choose to raise the money," Johnson said in a letter to Mills.

But he said he decided against raising corporate or personal income taxes.

Instead, the $4.8-billion tax increase package includes a speedup of income tax withholding payments for individuals and for corporate payments, delaying cuts in excise taxes for autos and telephone calls which actually went in to effect Jan. 1, and making self - employed persons pay Social Security taxes quarterly instead of at the end of the year.

City Police Nab 5 Youths In Carry-Out Store Entry

Tipped off by an alert passerby, East Liverpool police interrupted a burglary late Wednesday night at a carry-out beer store virtually within sight of City Hall, jailed five youths and recovered 32 bottles of wine and liquor and 10 cartons of cigarettes.

Although all five fled on foot, abandoning their auto, when the police approached, two of the young men later were taken into custody and their interrogation quickled led to the arrest of the other three, Chief A. J. Radeschi said.

The five are due to appear this afternoon at 2 before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon, charged with the burlgary at Alex's Carry-Out at 613 Jackson St., operated by James Cunningham, police reported.

The age of one of the boys was listed as 18, which would subject him to prosecution as an adult, but the chief said his name will not be made public until his age has been verified. The names of defendants under 18 — prosecuted in Juvenile Court — seldom are made public.

Police reported the investigation was touched off at 11:41 last night when a man walked into headquarters and told Patrolman Robert Pyle, desk officer, that he had seen someone moving about in the closed carry-out store.

Cruisers driven by Patrolman Jack Strobel and Paul A. Burson were dispatched to the scene. Patrolman Burson spotted one suspect fleeing the scene on foot. Officers Burson and Strobel pursued the suspect in a cruiser, but lost him in the vicinity of E. 3rd St. and Peach Alley, police said.

The officers found 32 bottles of vodka and wine and the cigarettes just outside a door on the west side of the building, close to a door which had been forced open. All the merchandise was returned to the owner except a few bottles retained for evidence.

At 12:19 a. m., two boys were

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republica (AP) — Leon Bosch Garcia, 29, son of former Dominican President Juan Bosch, remained in serious condition today from wounds received Tuesday in a shooting incident.

Hospital officials said Bosch had arm and intestinal wounds.

There were conflicting accounts of the shooting.

One version said Bosch was shot at a cocktail lounge. Another version said it happened when he was en route from the center of the capital to his father's home of the western outskirts.

Kennedy Inaugurated Five Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago today in the bright sunlight of noontime, John F. Kennedy was inaugurated president and immediately urged a new quest for peace.

He spoke for 14 minutes and cautioned: "Let us never negotiate out of fear, but let us never fear to negotiate."

He looked forward, too, to "a new world of law where the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved."

Peace Bid

derstands that the obstacle to peace in Southeast Asia is not the United States."

Harriman said governments in each capital "volunteered to do what they could in their own way with Moscow, Hanoi and Peking to achieve a peaceful solution.

"The decision is now up to Hanoi," he said, "and I think it is fair to say that people of the world understand that the American people have the hope of bringing this to a peaceful conclusion."

If Johnson has any new public peace moves in mind, he has given no sign of them so far. Officials say, however, that secret diplomatic efforts are continuing and will go on in the future.

That intention was indicated by Johnson in a message to Congress Wednesday asking for a supplemental appropriation of $12.761 billion to help finance the war in Viet Nam.

"We are currently engaged in a major effort to open a road to a peaceful settlement," he said. "But until there is a response — and until the aggression ends — we must do all that is necessary to support our allies and our own fighting forces in Viet Nam."

State Department officials said man channels to North Viet Nam are still open and will remain so regardless of developments in the war. But a spokesman told a news conference the North Vietnamese "have shown no interest" in Johnson's peace campaign.

Such hope as remains that the North Vietnamese may still agree to negotiate is based on speculation among officials here that they would need time to change their position if, in fact, they had any intention of doing so.

From Saigon came press reports that top officials in the U.S. Embassy and military command there favored an increased war effort against the Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese forces fighting in the South as well as against North Viet Nam. Their view was described as being that such a strategy offers the only logical hope of getting the Communists to a conference table.

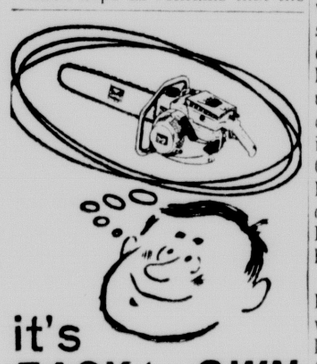

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described in these dispatches as favoring resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam targets next week following the end of the current Vietnamese New Year holiday and whatever lull it produces in the fighting.

One reason next week is considered a crucial week for U.S. policy making: If the Communist leadership is interested in trying to reduce the level of the war, as President Johnson suggested a week ago, their intentions would show up most clearly in what they do after the holiday ends. The general expectation is that as in the past they will return to the fight with renewed violence. Should they demonstrate instead a desire to ease off the fighting it would be considered here as an encouraging response to Johnson's proposal for scaling down the conflict even without negotiations.

Harriman was sent abroad by the president on Dec. 28. He left Washington secretly and his mission was only discovered when he arrived at his first stop, Warsaw, Poland. With that disclosure Johnson's highly publicized peace offensive began to unfold. Harriman visited other capitals in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East and Asia. Other envoys dispatched by the President called on leaders in other parts of the world. The President reported that they had visited 40 countries in all.

Harriman, 74, linked up with Rusk in Southeast Asia as Rusk was returning by way of Thailand and South Viet Nam from the funeral of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, which he attended with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

apprehended on Jackson St. One of the pair resembled the boy which Burson and Strobel had been pursuing, officers said. Police said the two were returning for an auto which was abandoned in the middle of Rural Ln. when the boys fled the burglary scene. Police were in the act of towing away the car at the time.

The two boys were taken to headquarters, where interrogation revealed the names of the other three involved, officers said. The three other suspects then were taken into custody at their homes.

Police said the suspects range in age from 15 to 18. Three of the suspects, who gave their ages as 16, 17 and 18, listed addresses on W. 2nd St. Another said he is 16 and resides on Baxter St. and the fifth gave his age as 15 and said he resides in Gardendale.

The cruiser that was used in pursuit of the boys was deadlined later with possible damage to the oil pan apparently resulting when it hit a street chuckhole at W. 4th St. and Peach Alley, the chief said.

Officer Strobel reported the cruiser hit a hole in the pavement, causing the underside of the auto to bump the pavement. A short time later, he observed possible damage to the oil pan, so the car was taken out of service at least temporarily, he said.

Lt. Kenneth Mooney, who was in charge of the shift, said his investigation indicated the car was not being operated at excessive speed when the underside bumped the pavement.

The chief today commended the unidentified passerby who reported the burglary to police.

"This is another example of the value of citizens' reports to police when they observe suspicious actions," the chief said. "This man's report allowed the department to interrupt a burglary and apprehend the suspects. The department always will hold in confidence the names of those who furnish information in cases like this."

"Dr. Mellett suggested that due to its proximity to East Liverpool, Kent would be the choice as the university to establish a two - year program in the community.

"Kent had attempted to furnish extension courses on a smaller basis previously. Dawson convinced Dr. Robert I. White, president of Kent, that the community was ready for an academic center and after several meetings Kent agreed to establish here.

"In February 1965 the state Board of Regents approved East Liverpool for the branch. Shortly after, the old IBOP building on W. 6th St. was made available and converted for the center.

"Dawson spent many hours establishing the branch, procurring students through many visits to area high schools and has worked hand in hand with John Hedrick, branch director, to assure its continued success."

VINCENT C. Laneve, Jaycee president, gave the welcome, thanking the "bosses" for their cooperation in working with the organization.

He also displayed brochures on advantages of the Swaney site for the proposed county airport and asked businessmen to display them.

In announcing that the DSA was being bypassed this year, Laneve emphasized that the committee's action in no way was intended as a reflection on the present members of the Jaycees. He said the decision was based on the feeling that up to this time, for various reasons, the potential candidates did not measure up to the high standards that govern the award.

Groza reviewed his career in professional football. After graduating from Martins Ferry High School, he entered Ohio State University. He entered the Army before graduating and after his discharge signed a football contract. Groza completed his education at Ohio State between 1946 and 1949.

He outlined the various tactics employed in setting up offenses and defenses and commented that the success of the Browns this season largely was because of "depth" at key positions.

The average salary of the Browns is from $15,000 to $20,000, he said, with the lowest paid man on the squad making $10,000.

Groza also explained the system used in "drafting" players, outlining the complete and complicated records involved in the process.

The dinner committee included Ed Massey, chairman, Jackman Vodrey, Joseph Coons, Gay Billingsley and Charles Lang.

Saigon. This would mean that at least four of the five early morning Viet Cong attacks were not violations.

Questioned about the change in the time differential between Hanoi and Saigon, a U. S. official said he assumed he was incorrect earlier "and certainly we go along with the version of the government."

Only an attack on the Phu Huu outpost, 4 miles southeast of Saigon, was considered a significant breach in the early hours of the Communist truce. The Viet Cong struck shortly after 1 a.m., and the action lasted 30 minutes until the small government force beat off the guerrillas. They took light casualties and an air strike sank one enemy sampan, a spokesman said.

Guerrillas also attacked outposts in Gia Dinh Province, which surrounds the capital; outposts in Long An Province, 25 miles to the southeast, and the village of An Hoa, near the old imperial seat of Hue, 390 miles to the northeast.

Five civilians were wounded and government troops suffered light casualties in the hour-and-a-half exchange at An Hoa, a spokesman said.

About 20 minutes after midnight, a U. S. helicopter was fired on from the ground by eight Viet Cong as he approached Ba To, a village 20 miles south of Quang Ngai City, along the central coast. The craft was not hit.

A U. S. spokesman said air and sea patrols would continue as part of the Allied defense posture during the truce.

He declined to speculate what would happen if the Communists adhered to the shorter Allied truce, which ends at 6 p.m. Sunday. The Viet Cong truce expires at midnight Sunday.

He said the original order of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. commander in Viet Nam, was that "normal operations will resume" at 6 p.m. Asked if the Allies would be the first to resume hostilities, he said that decision was up to higher authorities, presumably meaning Washington.

Many American soldiers expressed skepticism about the truce, recalling attacks during the Christmas cease-fire.

An intelligence source said his information indicated the Communists would not hesitate to fire on Americans during the truce. When the underground Viet Cong radio announced the cease-fire three weeks ago, it did not specifically pledge immunity to the Americans, New Zealanders, Australians and South Koreans fighting alongside the government troops, but it said it hoped Saigon's allies would adhere to the truce.

"We are currently engaged in a major effort to open a road to a peaceful settlement," he said. "But until there is a response — and until the aggression ends — we must do all that is necessary to support our allies and our own fighting forces in Viet Nam."

State Department officials said man channels to North Viet Nam are still open and will remain so regardless of developments in the war. But a spokesman told a news conference the North Vietnamese "have shown no interest" in Johnson's peace campaign.

Such hope as remains that the North Vietnamese may still agree to negotiate is based on speculation among officials here that they would need time to change their position if, in fact, they had any intention of doing so.

From Saigon came press reports that top officials in the U.S. Embassy and military command there favored an increased war effort against the Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese forces fighting in the South as well as against North Viet Nam. Their view was described as being that such a strategy offers the only logical hope of getting the Communists to a conference table.

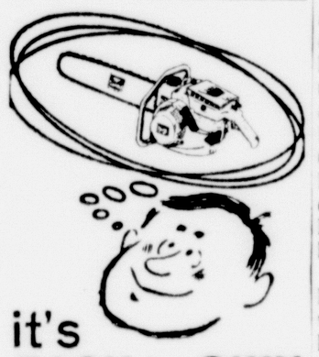

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described in these dispatches as favoring resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam targets next week following the end of the current Vietnamese New Year holiday and whatever lull it produces in the fighting.

One reason next week is considered a crucial week for U.S. policy making: If the Communist leadership is interested in trying to reduce the level of the war, as President Johnson suggested a week ago, their intentions would show up most clearly in what they do after the holiday ends. The general expectation is that as in the past they will return to the fight with renewed violence. Should they demonstrate instead a desire to ease off the fighting it would be considered here as an encouraging response to Johnson's proposal for scaling down the conflict even without negotiations.

Harriman was sent abroad by the president on Dec. 28. He left Washington secretly and his mission was only discovered when he arrived at his first stop, Warsaw, Poland. With that disclosure Johnson's highly publicized peace offensive began to unfold. Harriman visited other capitals in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East and Asia. Other envoys dispatched by the President called on leaders in other parts of the world. The President reported that they had visited 40 countries in all.

Harriman, 74, linked up with Rusk in Southeast Asia as Rusk was returning by way of Thailand and South Viet Nam from the funeral of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, which he attended with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

apprehended on Jackson St. One of the pair resembled the boy which Burson and Strobel had been pursuing, officers said. Police said the two were returning for an auto which was abandoned in the middle of Rural Ln. when the boys fled the burglary scene. Police were in the act of towing away the car at the time.

The two boys were taken to headquarters, where interrogation revealed the names of the other three involved, officers said. The three other suspects then were taken into custody at their homes.

Police said the suspects range in age from 15 to 18. Three of the suspects, who gave their ages as 16, 17 and 18, listed addresses on W. 2nd St. Another said he is 16 and resides on Baxter St. and the fifth gave his age as 15 and said he resides in Gardendale.

The cruiser that was used in pursuit of the boys was deadlined later with possible damage to the oil pan apparently resulting when it hit a street chuckhole at W. 4th St. and Peach Alley, the chief said.

Officer Strobel reported the cruiser hit a hole in the pavement, causing the underside of the auto to bump the pavement. A short time later, he observed possible damage to the oil pan, so the car was taken out of service at least temporarily, he said.

Lt. Kenneth Mooney, who was in charge of the shift, said his investigation indicated the car was not being operated at excessive speed when the underside bumped the pavement.

The chief today commended the unidentified passerby who reported the burglary to police.

"This is another example of the value of citizens' reports to police when they observe suspicious actions," the chief said. "This man's report allowed the department to interrupt a burglary and apprehend the suspects. The department always will hold in confidence the names of those who furnish information in cases like this."

Saigon. This would mean that at least four of the five early morning Viet Cong attacks were not violations.

Questioned about the change in the time differential between Hanoi and Saigon, a U. S. official said he assumed he was incorrect earlier "and certainly we go along with the version of the government."

Only an attack on the Phu Huu outpost, 4 miles southeast of Saigon, was considered a significant breach in the early hours of the Communist truce. The Viet Cong struck shortly after 1 a.m., and the action lasted 30 minutes until the small government force beat off the guerrillas. They took light casualties and an air strike sank one enemy sampan, a spokesman said.

Guerrillas also attacked outposts in Gia Dinh Province, which surrounds the capital; outposts in Long An Province, 25 miles to the southeast, and the village of An Hoa, near the old imperial seat of Hue, 390 miles to the northeast.

Five civilians were wounded and government troops suffered light casualties in the hour-and-a-half exchange at An Hoa, a spokesman said.

About 20 minutes after midnight, a U. S. helicopter was fired on from the ground by eight Viet Cong as he approached Ba To, a village 20 miles south of Quang Ngai City, along the central coast. The craft was not hit.

He declined to speculate what would happen if the Communists adhered to the shorter Allied truce, which ends at 6 p.m. Sunday. The Viet Cong truce expires at midnight Sunday.

He said the original order of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. commander in Viet Nam, was that "normal operations will resume" at 6 p.m. Asked if the Allies would be the first to resume hostilities, he said that decision was up to higher authorities, presumably meaning Washington.

Many American soldiers expressed skepticism about the truce, recalling attacks during the Christmas cease-fire.

An intelligence source said his information indicated the Communists would not hesitate to fire on Americans during the truce. When the underground Viet Cong radio announced the cease-fire three weeks ago, it did not specifically pledge immunity to the Americans, New Zealanders, Australians and South Koreans fighting alongside the government troops, but it said it hoped Saigon's allies would adhere to the truce.

Mrs. Prime Minister Of India

India's Congress party had no reasonable choice between Mrs. Indira Gandhi and other possible candidates, all men, for prime minister. Her elevation to the top position in the Indian government was automatic.

To have passed her over, in favor of any of the men who were mentioned for the leadership post, would have been a political error. She alone commanded enough personal following to add strength to the Congress party and put it in a sound position for the next national election.

From the American point of view, this automatic elevation of a woman to head a state should excite only ordinary interest. This is, after all, the nation in which women supposedly have more status than they have anywhere else on earth.

Yet, when Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine made a run for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, her candidacy was regarded as no more than a gesture. No one took it seriously, not even Mrs. Smith, who thinks the United States will have a woman president sometime but not in her lifetime.

Skeptics cannot see the possibility even in the distant future. They don't believe Americans ever would accept a woman's leadership. They believe women particularly would shy from the idea. They don't believe women have enough steel in their character or enough iron in their blood to withstand the sledgehammer blows of reproof, frustration and hostile challenge that heads of state must expect.

Deserved Recognition

There could be no more fitting time for Frank A. Dawson to have received the Civic Service Award presented annually by the East Liverpool Jaycees for community service.

Frank has served in many capacities over the years, but his efforts reached a new peak not too long ago when he spearheaded the campaign which resulted in the establishment of a Kent State Academic Center here.

In fairness to the others who served on the committee, it should be emphasized that obtaining the center was by no means a one-man job. But Frank must be given credit as the moving force behind the drive which culminated in the opening of classes at the former International Brotherhood of Operative Potters building on W. 6th St.

Mr. Dawson's name merits a place on the honor roll of community achievement.

The Best Of Sargent Shriver

Washington, is cheering because Sargent Shriver is giving up his proprietary right to run the Peace Corps with one hand and moving into the anti-poverty program with both hands.

The idea is that Mr. Shriver did all right when he was running the Peace Corps and nothing else and may do equally well with the anti-poverty program but cannot be expected to do both. Therefore, the Peace Corps will be turned over to Jack Vaughn and Mr. Shriver will give all his talent and energy to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The anti-poverty program is bogging down in the same quagmire that has cursed much of the foreign aid program.

The idea of these programs is to give a helping hand to the kind of people who need help and never had any. But in the operation of the programs, funds supposedly being distributed to the downtrodden have a curious way of sticking to the fingers and filtering into the pockets of people who always look out for No. 1 and devil take the hindmost.

As critics of the anti-poverty program put it, they haven't been able to find much evidence that poverty is being routed. As so often happened when foreign aid money flowed out from Washington, its final resting place too often has been in the tin cups of those who always have had the know-how to corner loose cash.

Mr. Shriver has his work cut out for him. This won't be like the Peace Corps, which was a project for doing good things in unspoiled areas whose inhabitants never learned about money and its misuses.

The anti-poverty program is like feeding time in the zoo. The tigers would like to take off with all of it.

Ohio's Wonder Of The World

The State Development Department has recommended engineering studies for an Ohio-Ontario bridge across Lake Erie, one of the "far-reaching" proposals of the Rhodes administration.

But this is not the bridge originally proposed, which would have been a cutoff to shorten the journey around the west end of Lake Erie. That bridge would have been an island-hopping project running north from the vicinity of Sandusky to the nearest point in Ontario.

The bridge now being eyed as a long-range possibility would run north from the east side of Cleveland to Ontario, across the widest part of Lake Erie. If built, it would be one of the wonders of the world.

It would have the effect of integrating the economy of Canada's most intensively industrialized province with the "Ruhr" of America. Canadian soil would be no more than an hour distant from the Cleveland area by truck. Vast potentialities of tourism would be opened up for both Canadians and Americans now blocked away from each other by the expanse of Lake Erie.

It would be hooked up at the Ohio terminus with both I-71 and I-77 and within easy distance of all east-west highways in northern Ohio.

Only one obstacle looms large at the moment—the cost, which might run up to $600 million and might run beyond that. In other words, when the bridge engineers get through looking at a proposition of this magnitude, the really intensive examination would start. It would be done by financiers, who would have to be convinced it could be made to pay for itself, like the Ohio Turnpike.

Gen. Gavin Made Up His Mind

A letter to Harper's magazine by James A. Gavin, a retired lieutenant general who was the Army's chief of plans and operations in the 1950s when the United States decided not to get bogged down in Viet Nam, is going to set off a barrage of comment.

This is because Gen. Gavin brings into the open the fact the staff decision at that time was based on the fact a war in Viet Nam would be, in fact, a war against the People's Republic of China and Viet Nam would be the wrong place to fight it. President Eisenhower was in the White House when the decision was made.

Comment also will be due to Gen. Gavin's prediction that the United States cannot carry out any useful military purpose in Viet Nam without committing itself to such a large-scale war it would be vulnerable to attack elsewhere, chiefly in Korea, where China still has a score to settle.

In that event, it would be forced to fight a two-front war thousands of miles from home. For this reason, when he was responsible for helping to make military decisions, Gen. Gavin made up his mind to stay clear of a hopeless and hazardous involvement in Viet Nam—the wrong place. He hasn't changed his mind.

The right place, says Gen. Gavin, provided the United States wants to go to war with China, is Manchuria. But first, he points out, the United States needs to decide whether it wants to go to war with China. It is not a decision to be made accidentally, as it would be if the United States backed into war with China by making the massive commitment required before it would have an outside chance of securing the future of South Viet Nam as a political entity.

Anyone Can Do It

By Truman Twill

The author's picture and his explanation of how his sensational book came to be written and what he thinks it signifies are being featured in magazines.

The explanation should be read with interest by everybody whoever has said, "I could write a book if I had time."

"In Cold Blood" is the story of a real-life American tragedy. It recreates a brutal murder in Kansas in November 1959—the killing by a pair of jail-birds of the Klutter family—father, mother, daughter and son.

The killers were executed for their crime in April 1965. During all but a few days from the discovery of the crime in 1959 until the anti-climax of the execution after prolonged legal reviews, Truman Capote lived and relived the events of the tragedy as told to him by everybody he could find who knew anything about the victims and the killers.

The result of his prodigious labor is one of the most powerful novels of the era. It is the distillation of 6,000 pages of notes. To make the job possible, the author trained himself to report conversations by his own ear, without taking anything down in shorthand or using a tape recorder.

He says he would not try to do such a thing again. It was too hard. He became too involved in what he was doing—so involved that even now he cannot shut out of his thoughts the things he learned and set down for others to see.

What he did was a success. The New Yorker published the book in four installments. Random House is publishing the book itself. The movies will pick it up. Book-of-the-Month has bought it. It has bloomed into a multi-million-dollar property.

Rarely has the public been allowed to see how much effort goes into a writing project like this. Besides the notes from which the book was constructed, hundreds of letters were written, to assemble details. Thousands of miles were covered by car, to see how the killers lived before they were apprehended and arrested.

"I could write a book if I had time."

He brought the skill of a career in fine writing to the task. He started to write before he was 20 and now is fortyish, with an impressive list of book titles to his credit.

So, with an investment of five years of time, a lifetime of learning how to write, the ability to organize 6,000 pages of notes, plus enough initiative and imagination to make a best-seller out of a case of murder that otherwise would have been a drab, grisly footnote on the violence of the times we are living in, anyone can write a book.

Probably the earliest "advertisement" is a sheet of papyrus bearing a notice of a runaway slave and a reward for his return. It was found in Egypt and is 3,000 years old.

The art of acting was highly developed among the Romans mainly because they had a special gift for mimicry, and were born improvisers.

Service Manpower Waste Bared

By Victor Riesel

That tough old soldier, my good friend of another grimness in an ancient era, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, after searing soul-searching, again is tearing earnest young scholars from their campuses and devoted young husbands from their brides of but a year or two.

Victor Riesel

But the Army, Navy and Air Force brass are squandering the skills of thousands of GIs, nursing skeet shooting clubs courses and bowling alleys.

There are at least 9,000 such military men, trained at the cost of millions of dollars, who are dissipating their training while tending store, running errands for officers and partaking in glorified baby-sitting.

These men alone are paid more than $40.5 million annually.

There are Navy seamen, whose skills are needed aboard ship, or at land stations, who are tending store at such posts as the New London and Groton, Conn., Submarine Bases.

THERE ARE PRIZED and scarce military mechanics and other specialists who are "performing standard supermarket jobs, such as stocking fruit, vegetables and canned goods, operating cash registers and supervising functions."

Thus report the skilled investigators of the General Accounting Office, who surveyed bases ranging from Yokosuka, Japan, to Naples and Hawaii.

They found men whose specialties were needed in Viet Nam or in military training centers, working instead in social clubs, hobby stores, officers' clubs, swimming pool units, lakes and beach resorts, gun clubs, game farms, stables, boating facilities and a fishing camp, youth activities, post exchanges, theaters, visitors' bureaus, officers' transient billets and their health clubs and a resort in the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

These were all on military installations.

EVERYONE OF THEM was expendable in these awesome pursuits without which the U.S. no doubt would have to flee the Viet Cong.

The investigators report that civilian help was available in virtually every area. Such personnel could have been hired out of specially appropriated funds.

This means that the military has misspent more than $100 million since the cold war heated up over there.

The waste of manpower is even more devastating. Private industry now is desperate for expertness developed by these young men. The General Electric Corp., for example, is spending $45 million to train workers in special skills to which many of the 9,000 misused military personnel easily could be adapted.

There is, for example, an Army serviceman with three years' experience as a motor maintenance sergeant. This means that he easily can diagnose malfunctions of tracked vehicles, tanks and weapons' carriers. He could determine the extent of repairs required and "perform final inspections and road tests to ensure that repaired vehicles meet prescribed standards."

THIS SOLDIER has continually received excellent efficiency ratings.

The investigation discovered that he had been assigned the job of recreation specialist at Fort Hood, Texas. He had been posted to the Rod and Gun Club as a game warden.

There are hundreds like him. He was nursing animals. Yet his ability is needed overseas and the Army has been "training additional personnel in this skill."

There is the report on an Air Force serviceman who had enlisted to do his bit. He was trained as a ground communications equipment repairman. He wound up selling tubes in a Hi-Fi hobby shop "for the convenience of the individuals who patronized the shop" at Offutt Air Force Base, Strategic Air Command's central headquarters, near Omaha, Neb.

A Navy recruit was assigned to the officers' bowling alley, at the Naval Air Station, North Island, San Diego. "His duties consisted of cleaning up and performing minor repairs to the pinsetting machinery."

Somebody should remind the Pentagon there's a war on.

This is to thank all those who donated clothing and helped with the children after the fire which swept our home in Hookstown last Wednesday.

We have enough clothing now and don't need any more. In fact, people have been so generous that some of the clothing will be distributed to others in need by the Hookstown Presbyterian Church.

I am recovering satisfactorily from smoke inhalation. We and the two youngest children are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vandine in Hookstown.

While we appreciate your interest, further calls as to our health are not necessary.

More than half of America's adults are now "calorie conscious," which accounts for the present record sales of frozen diatetic foods in stores throughout the nation.

Of the approxiately 3,000 instruments created by the immortal Antonius Stradivarius (1644-1737), only about 540 violins, 11 violas and 50 violoncellos have survived.

Approximately 13,000 people in the United States are 100 years of age or older, according to latest count.

Equal Time

By David Lawrence

Republican Message Fell Short

The three television networks didn't give the Republican spokesmen "equal time" for their "state of the union" message. The President was granted an hour and the Republicans only a half hour. Mr. Johnson had prime time — 9 o'clock in the evening — on all three networks simultaneously. The Columbia Broadcasting System gave the Republican presentation from 10:30 to 11:00 p.m., while the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting Company showed it from 11:30 p.m. to midnight. This period is the late show."

David Lawrence

The time for delivery of the President's State of the Union message was well publicized in advance, not only in news reports but in announcements on the air and in print. There was, on the other hand, considerable fumbling about giving advance notice to the public as to when the Republican program would be heard.

Many millions of viewers and listeners had therefore, gone to bed when "the other side" of the argument was broadcast. Also, only a quarter of an hour was made available to the Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, and another quarter of an hour to the house Republican leader, Gerald Ford.

So the two Republican spokesmen had to condense their remarks. They tried to do too much in too little time and their comments, therefore, were not as comprehensive as they would have been had there been more broadcast time.

WHILE THE TWO brief speeches had in them some good arguments, the effort as a whole was not as effective as it might have been if a different concept of an opposition party's duty and responsibility had been recognized by the party strategists. It isn't the obligation of a minority party to present alternatives in specific form or to construct a rival program. The chief need is to tell the people what's actually going on so that they may learn what is the true state of the Union.

The Republican presentation might well have included, for instance, figures from the speech made in the Senate on Monday by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who declared that President Johnson is hiding the true deficit in next year's national budget until after this year's congressional elections, and added that the real deficit would be $9.2 billion instead of the $1.8 billion predicted by Mr. Johnson.

The opposition has a duty to reveal the corrupt influences that are prevalent inside government — the waste of public funds and the misuse of governmental power in favor of the blocs and groups which raise the money to win elections. There also are palpable violations of law in the matter of political-campaign contributions. Perhaps an administration that benefits from these can hardly be expected to prosecute those organizations which ignore the spirit as well as the letter of the law.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST scandals of all — the manner in which national elections are controlled today — got only a little attention. Mr. Ford said:

"Ways must be found to eliminate vote fraud, curb the cost of political campaigns and expand the right to vote."

Plenty of evidence of the political use of federal funds intended to fight poverty or to help education has been uncovered. The Republicans might have portrayed the nature of the irregularities prevalent, but they didn't. Rep. Ford did touch briefly on one of these aspects as follows:

"We must liberate the war on poverty from waste, controversy, and the bad odor of political bossism."

Such vague statements on abuses — without giving some concrete examples — could hardly have made much impression, and certainly not on people half-asleep during broadcasts made near midnight.

SEN. DIRKSEN gave an interesting analysis of the Viet Nam situation, but didn't clearly point out the course that ought to be pursued.

Maybe he should have reminded the administration that it has been a little late in applying the policies advocated in 1964 by the Republican presidential candidate. Perhaps also the senator should have reminded his audience that when Barry Goldwater was defeated, the Communist world interpreted this as the repudiation of a vigorous policy by the United States in the war against the North Vietnamese, and that naturally the Hanoi government became "trigger happy" itself.

Mrs. Prime Minister Of India

India's Congress party had no reasonable choice between Mrs. Indira Gandhi and other possible candidates, all men, for prime minister. Her elevation to the top position in the Indian government was automatic.

To have passed her over, in favor of any of the men who were mentioned for the leadership post, would have been a political error. She alone commanded enough personal following to add strength to the Congress party and put it in a sound position for the next national election.

From the American point of view, this automatic elevation of a woman to head a state should excite only ordinary interest. This is, after all, the nation in which women supposedly have more status than they have anywhere else on earth.

Yet, when Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine made a run for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, her candidacy was regarded as no more than a gesture. No one took it seriously, not even Mrs. Smith, who thinks the United States will have a woman president sometime but not in her lifetime.

Skeptics cannot see the possibility even in the distant future. They don't believe Americans ever would accept a woman's leadership. They believe women particularly would shy from the idea. They don't believe women have enough steel in their character or enough iron in their blood to withstand the sledgehammer blows of reproof, frustration and hostile challenge that heads of state must expect.

Deserved Recognition

There could be no more fitting time for Frank A. Dawson to have received the Civic Service Award presented annually by the East Liverpool Jaycees for community service.

Frank has served in many capacities over the years, but his efforts reached a new peak not too long ago when he spearheaded the campaign which resulted in the establishment of a Kent State Academic Center here.

In fairness to the others who served on the committee, it should be emphasized that obtaining the center was by no means a one-man job. But Frank must be given credit as the moving force behind the drive which culminated in the opening of classes at the former International Brotherhood of Operative Potters building on W. 6th St.

Mr. Dawson's name merits a place on the honor roll of community achievement.

The Best Of Sargent Shriver

Washington, is cheering because Sargent Shriver is giving up his proprietary right to run the Peace Corps with one hand and moving into the anti-poverty program with both hands.

The idea is that Mr. Shriver did all right when he was running the Peace Corps and nothing else and may do equally well with the anti-poverty program but cannot be expected to do both. Therefore, the Peace Corps will be turned over to Jack Vaughn and Mr. Shriver will give all his talent and energy to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The anti-poverty program is bogging down in the same quagmire that has cursed much of the foreign aid program.

The idea of these programs is to give a helping hand to the kind of people who need help and never had any. But in the operation of the programs, funds supposedly being distributed to the downtrodden have a curious way of sticking to the fingers and filtering into the pockets of people who always look out for No. 1 and devil take the hindmost.

As critics of the anti-poverty program put it, they haven't been able to find much evidence that poverty is being routed. As so often happened when foreign aid money flowed out from Washington, its final resting place too often has been in the tin cups of those who always have had the know-how to corner loose cash.

Mr. Shriver has his work cut out for him. This won't be like the Peace Corps, which was a project for doing good things in unspoiled areas whose inhabitants never learned about money and its misuses.

The anti-poverty program is like feeding time in the zoo. The tigers would like to take off with all of it.

Ohio's Wonder Of The World

The State Development Department has recommended engineering studies for an Ohio-Ontario bridge across Lake Erie, one of the "far-reaching" proposals of the Rhodes administration.

But this is not the bridge originally proposed, which would have been a cutoff to shorten the journey around the west end of Lake Erie. That bridge would have been an island-hopping project running north from the vicinity of Sandusky to the nearest point in Ontario.

The bridge now being eyed as a long-range possibility would run north from the east side of Cleveland to Ontario, across the widest part of Lake Erie. If built, it would be one of the wonders of the world.

It would have the effect of integrating the economy of Canada's most intensively industrialized province with the "Ruhr" of America. Canadian soil would be no more than an hour distant from the Cleveland area by truck. Vast potentialities of tourism would be opened up for both Canadians and Americans now blocked away from each other by the expanse of Lake Erie.

It would be hooked up at the Ohio terminus with both I-71 and I-77 and within easy distance of all east-west highways in northern Ohio.

Only one obstacle looms large at the moment—the cost, which might run up to $600 million and might run beyond that. In other words, when the bridge engineers get through looking at a proposition of this magnitude, the really intensive examination would start. It would be done by financiers, who would have to be convinced it could be made to pay for itself, like the Ohio Turnpike.

Gen. Gavin Made Up His Mind

A letter to Harper's magazine by James A. Gavin, a retired lieutenant general who was the Army's chief of plans and operations in the 1950s when the United States decided not to get bogged down in Viet Nam, is going to set off a barrage of comment.

This is because Gen. Gavin brings into the open the fact the staff decision at that time was based on the fact a war in Viet Nam would be, in fact, a war against the People's Republic of China and Viet Nam would be the wrong place to fight it. President Eisenhower was in the White House when the decision was made.

Comment also will be due to Gen. Gavin's prediction that the United States cannot carry out any useful military purpose in Viet Nam without committing itself to such a large-scale war it would be vulnerable to attack elsewhere, chiefly in Korea, where China still has a score to settle.

In that event, it would be forced to fight a two-front war thousands of miles from home. For this reason, when he was responsible for helping to make military decisions, Gen. Gavin made up his mind to stay clear of a hopeless and hazardous involvement in Viet Nam—the wrong place. He hasn't changed his mind.

The right place, says Gen. Gavin, provided the United States wants to go to war with China, is Manchuria. But first, he points out, the United States needs to decide whether it wants to go to war with China. It is not a decision to be made accidentally, as it would be if the United States backed into war with China by making the massive commitment required before it would have an outside chance of securing the future of South Viet Nam as a political entity.

Anyone Can Do It

By Truman Twill

The author's picture and his explanation of how his sensational book came to be written and what he thinks it signifies are being featured in magazines.

The explanation should be read with interest by everybody whoever has said, "I could write a book if I had time."

"In Cold Blood" is the story of a real-life American tragedy. It recreates a brutal murder in Kansas in November 1959—the killing by a pair of jail-birds of the Klutter family—father, mother, daughter and son.

The killers were executed for their crime in April 1965. During all but a few days from the discovery of the crime in 1959 until the anti-climax of the execution after prolonged legal reviews, Truman Capote lived and relived the events of the tragedy as told to him by everybody he could find who knew anything about the victims and the killers.

The result of his prodigious labor is one of the most powerful novels of the era. It is the distillation of 6,000 pages of notes. To make the job possible, the author trained himself to report conversations by his own ear, without taking anything down in shorthand or using a tape recorder.

He says he would not try to do such a thing again. It was too hard. He became too involved in what he was doing—so involved that even now he cannot shut out of his thoughts the things he learned and set down for others to see.

What he did was a success. The New Yorker published the book in four installments. Random House is publishing the book itself. The movies will pick it up. Book-of-the-Month has bought it. It has bloomed into a multi-million-dollar property.

Rarely has the public been allowed to see how much effort goes into a writing project like this. Besides the notes from which the book was constructed, hundreds of letters were written, to assemble details. Thousands of miles were covered by car, to see how the killers lived before they were apprehended and arrested.

"I could write a book if I had time."

Truman Capote took the time—more than five years.

He brought the skill of a career in fine writing to the task. He started to write before he was 20 and now is fortyish, with an impressive list of book titles to his credit.

So, with an investment of five years of time, a lifetime of learning how to write, the ability to organize 6,000 pages of notes, plus enough initiative and imagination to make a best-seller out of a case of murder that otherwise would have been a drab, grisly footnote on the violence of the times we are living in, anyone can write a book.

Probably the earliest "advertisement" is a sheet of papyrus bearing a notice of a runaway slave and a reward for his return. It was found in Egypt and is 3,000 years old.

The art of acting was highly developed among the Romans mainly because they had a special gift for mimicry, and were born improvisers.

Service Manpower Waste Bared

By Victor Riesel

That tough old soldier, my good friend of another grimness in an ancient era, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, after searing soul-searching, again is tearing earnest young scholars from their campuses and devoted young husbands from their brides of but a year or two.

Victor Riesel

But the Army, Navy and Air Force brass are squandering the skills of thousands of GIs, nursing skeet shooting clubs courses and bowling alleys.

There are at least 9,000 such military men, trained at the cost of millions of dollars, who are dissipating their training while tending store, running errands for officers and partaking in glorified baby-sitting.

These men alone are paid more than $40.5 million annually.

There are Navy seamen, whose skills are needed aboard ship, or at land stations, who are tending store at such posts as the New London and Groton, Conn., Submarine Bases.

THERE ARE PRIZED and scarce military mechanics and other specialists who are "performing standard supermarket jobs, such as stocking fruit, vegetables and canned goods, operating cash registers and supervising functions."

Thus report the skilled investigators of the General Accounting Office, who surveyed bases ranging from Yokosuka, Japan, to Naples and Hawaii.

They found men whose specialties were needed in Viet Nam or in military training centers, working instead in social clubs, hobby stores, officers' clubs, swimming pool units, lakes and beach resorts, gun clubs, game farms, stables, boating facilities and a fishing camp, youth activities, post exchanges, theaters, visitors' bureaus, officers' transient billets and their health clubs and a resort in the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

These were all on military installations.

EVERYONE OF THEM was expendable in these awesome pursuits without which the U.S. no doubt would have to flee the Viet Cong.

The investigators report that civilian help was available in virtually every area. Such personnel could have been hired out of specially appropriated funds.

This means that the military has misspent more than $100 million since the cold wear heated up over there.

The waste of manpower is even more devastating. Private industry now is desperate for expertness developed by these young men. The General Electric Corp., for example, is spending $45 million to train workers in special skills to which many of the 9,000 misused military personnel easily could be adapted.

There is, for example, an Army serviceman with three years' experience as a motor maintenance sergeant. This means that he easily can diagnose malfunctions of tracked vehicles, tanks and weapons' carriers. He could determine the extent of repairs required and "perform final inspections and road tests to ensure that repaired vehicles meet prescribed standards."

THIS SOLDIER has continually received excellent efficiency ratings.

The investigation discovered that he had been assigned the job of recreation specialist at Fort Hood, Texas. He had been posted to the Rod and Gun Club as a game warden.

There are hundreds like him. He was nursing animals. Yet his ability is needed overseas and the Army has been "training additional personnel in this skill."

There is the report on an Air Force serviceman who had enlisted to do his bit. He was trained as a ground communications equipment repairman. He wound up selling tubes in a Hi-Fi hobby shop "for the convenience of the individuals who patronized the shop" at Offutt Air Force Base, Strategic Air Command's central headquarters, near Omaha, Neb.

A Navy recruit was assigned to the officers' bowling alley, at the Naval Air Station, North Island, San Diego. "His duties consisted of cleaning up and performing minor repairs to the pinsetting machinery."

Somebody should remind the Pentagon there's a war on.

This is to thank all those who donated clothing and helped with the children after the fire which swept our home in Hookstown last Wednesday.

We have enough clothing now and don't need any more. In fact, people have been so generous that some of the clothing will be distributed to others in need by the Hookstown Presbyterian Church.

I am recovering satisfactorily from smoke inhalation. We and the two youngest children are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vandine in Hookstown.

While we appreciate your interest, further calls as to our health are not necessary.

More than half of America's adults are now "calorie conscious," which accounts for the present record sales of frozen diatetic foods in stores throughout the nation.

Of the approxiately 3,000 instruments created by the immortal Antonius Stradivarius (1644-1737), only about 540 violins, 11 violas and 50 violoncellos have survived.

Approximately 13,000 people in the United States are 100 years of age or older, according to latest count.

Equal Time

By David Lawrence

Republican Message Fell Short

The three television networks didn't give the Republican spokesmen "equal time" for their "state of the union" message. The President was granted an hour and the Republicans only a half hour. Mr. Johnson had prime time — 9 o'clock in the evening — on all three networks simultaneously. The Columbia Broadcasting System gave the Republican presentation from 10:30 to 11:00 p.m., while the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting Company showed it from 11:30 p.m. to midnight. This period is the late show."

David Lawrence

The time for delivery of the President's State of the Union message was well publicized in advance, not only in news reports but in announcements on the air and in print. There was, on the other hand, considerable fumbling about giving advance notice to the public as to when the Republican program would be heard.

Many millions of viewers and listeners had therefore, gone to bed when "the other side" of the argument was broadcast. Also, only a quarter of an hour was made available to the Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, and another quarter of an hour to the house Republican leader, Gerald Ford.

So the two Republican spokesmen had to condense their remarks. They tried to do too much in too little time and their comments, therefore, were not as comprehensive as they would have been had there been more broadcast time.

WHILE THE TWO brief speeches had in them some good arguments, the effort as a whole was not as effective as it might have been if a different concept of an opposition party's duty and responsibility had been recognized by the party strategists. It isn't the obligation of a minority party to present alternatives in specific form or to construct a rival program. The chief need is to tell the people what's actually going on so that they may learn what is the true state of the Union.

The Republican presentation might well have included, for instance, figures from the speech made in the Senate on Monday by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who declared that President Johnson is hiding the true deficit in next year's national budget until after this year's congressional elections, and added that the real deficit would be $9.2 billion instead of the $1.8 billion predicted by Mr. Johnson.

Second Union Poses Threat Of Rail Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second union raised the spectre today of a major railroad strike crisis — this one developing next week with the possibility of eventually halting most of the nation's trains.

"They've mistreated our people to such an extent. . . that anything could happen," said Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said his attorneys would be ready to draw up court injunction papers if the trainmen threaten a strike.

Court action could delay any strike for months.

Luna's comment came the day after H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen warned that a new national railroad strike crisis loomed unless the railroads bargain on the union's terms.

Both disputes involve the federal arbitration ruling under which the jobs of 17,500 firemen and nearly an equal number of trainmen were eliminated.

Both unions demand that most of the jobs be restored.

In the case of the trainmen, the special two-year federal arbitration law expires Jan. 25 and in the case of the firemen, March 31.

Gilbert specifically said, and Luna implied, that they believe the unions will be legally free to strike on those dates.

Wolfe disagreed.

"In my opinion, supported by all the lawyers with whom I have talked, the (arbitration) award continues until something takes its place," he said.

Government officials, in whose lap the dispute will eventually land, said federal lawyers weren't sure whether the railroads or the unions were right.

A strike by the trainmen would involve some 85 railroads in the West and the Southeast. Luna said satisfactory agreements had been reached with some 35 Eastern railroads.

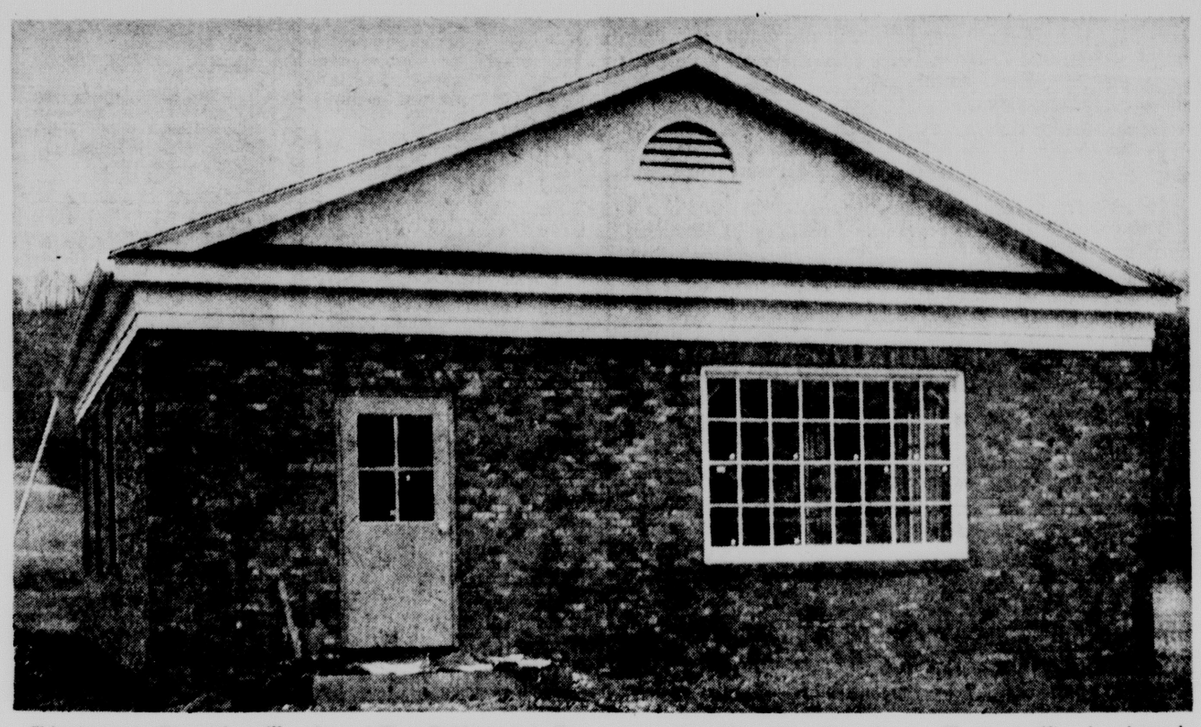

A strike by the firemen would involve about 170 railroads.

Railroad spokesmen contend they have the right to continue eliminating jobs — at least 7,000 more firemen and many thousand of brakemen — even after the arbitration ruling expires. Luna's union represents the brakemen.

Gilbert and Luna argue that at expiration of the special federal arbitration law — the first in U.S. peacetime history — the situation reverts to past contracts or practices unless there is a new agreement in the meantime.

The union chiefs said this means they have the right to demand that all the eliminated jobs be restored.

Shippingport Project Advanced

Shippingport Borough will start to use its first new Post Office in 60 years in March if the building is completed as scheduled.

Hampton Grant and Sons Inc. of West Bridgewater, Pa., started the construction of the building at its new location near the Community Building in October.

Mrs. Florence E. Cook, postmaster, hopes to be able to move into the new office the first week of March.

Mrs. Cook has been postmaster for 25 years, and has handled the mail in an office located in her home near the former ferry landing.

The post office has been located at her residence since 1906 when Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hanley, her uncle and aunt, moved the office into its present location.

Rayburn said the public is invited to visit the camp any time Saturday.

Youth May Face Federal Charge

Terry Miles Cartwright, 17, of Vienna, Ohio, apprehended early Wednesday for theft of an East Liverpool auto, still is being held in City Jail and may face federal charges in connection with a total of three vehicle thefts, Chief A. J. Radeschi said today.

The chief said he expects the youth will be referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with the series of thefts that began Friday night when he ran away from the George Junior Republic at Grove City, Pa.

He was taken into custody at Mingo Junction after abandoning an auto reported stolen by Dr. Roland D. Stover of Broadview Circle.

The chief said the boy has admitted he stole a truck at Grove City, abandoning it in Rochester. He stole a 1960 convertible at Rochester and drove it to East Liverpool, abandoning it on W. 8th St., and then took Dr. Stover's auto, the chief said.

Broader Service Discussed During Red Cross Event

Forty trained volunteers of the East Liverpool Area Chapter of the American Red Cross, who serve in the city's hospitals, met at the chapter office in Mary Patterson Memorial Wednesday night to discuss present hospital assignments and the development of the volunteers' service to the hospitals. Mrs. Marie Hays, chairman of the volunteers, presided.

Mrs. Marion Thompson, chairman of volunteers for the chapter, welcomed the group and Mrs. Lilyan Alpern, who has served as recruitment chairman for the former Gray Ladies group, reviewed the need for "dependability, tolerance and teamwork."

After thanking the group for services performed, Mrs. Hays informed the volunteers that nursing homes in the area and the School for Retarded Children at Elkton would be glad to have volunteers to assist with their programs.

She also pointed out that after approval of the program by the proper authorities, use of trained volunteers in the school health room may be launched as a pilot project in one of the local schools.

Miss Mary Catherine Brady, executive director of the area chapter, was introduced to the group.

An organizational meeting for anyone interested in joining the Gray Ladies will be held next Wednesday night at 7:30 at the chapter office.

Second Union Poses Threat Of Rail Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second union raised the spectre today of a major railroad strike crisis — this one developing next week with the possibility of eventually halting most of the nation's trains.

"They've mistreated our people to such an extent. . . that anything could happen," said Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said his attorneys would be ready to draw up court injunction papers if the trainmen threaten a strike.

Court action could delay any strike for months.

Luna's comment came the day after H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen warned that a new national railroad strike crisis loomed unless the railroads bargain on the union's terms.

Both disputes involve the federal arbitration ruling under which the jobs of 17,500 firemen and nearly an equal number of trainmen were eliminated.

Both unions demand that most of the jobs be restored.

In the case of the trainmen, the special two-year federal arbitration law expires Jan. 25 and in the case of the firemen, March 31.

Gilbert specifically said, and Luna implied, that they believe the unions will be legally free to strike on those dates.

Wolfe disagreed.

"In my opinion, supported by all the lawyers with whom I have talked, the (arbitration) award continues until something takes its place," he said.

Government officials, in whose lap the dispute will eventually land, said federal lawyers weren't sure whether the railroads or the unions were right.

A strike by the trainmen would involve some 85 railroads in the West and the Southeast. Luna said satisfactory agreements had been reached with some 35 Eastern railroads.

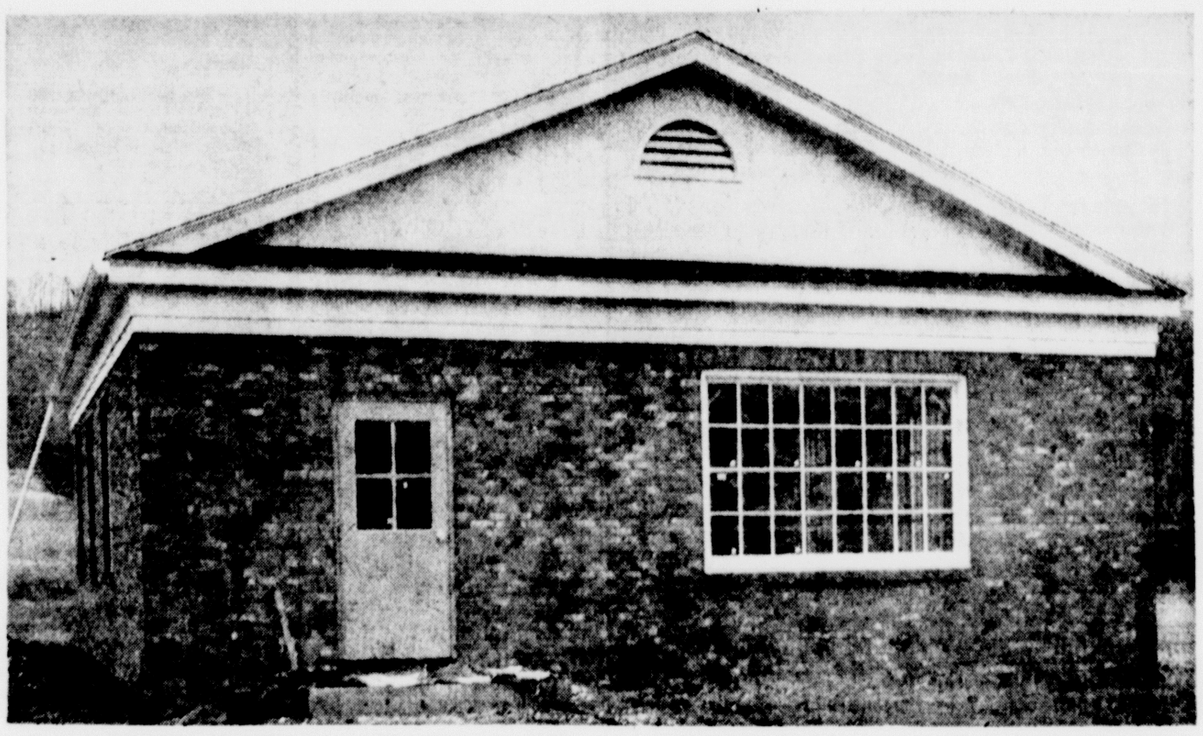

A strike by the firemen would involve about 170 railroads.

Railroad spokesmen contend they have the right to continue eliminating jobs — at least 7,000 more firemen and many thousand of brakemen — even after the arbitration ruling expires. Luna's union represents the brakemen.

Gilbert and Luna argue that at expiration of the special federal arbitration law — the first in U.S. peacetime history — the situation reverts to past contracts or practices unless there is a new agreement in the meantime.

The union chiefs said this means they have the right to demand that all the eliminated jobs be restored.

Shippingport Project Advanced

Shippingport Borough will start to use its first new Post Office in 60 years in March if the building is completed as scheduled.

Hampton Grant and Sons Inc. of West Bridgewater, Pa., started the construction of the building at its new location near the Community Building in October.

Mrs. Florence E. Cook, postmaster, hopes to be able to move into the new office the first week of March.

Mrs. Cook has been postmaster for 25 years, and has handled the mail in an office located in her home near the former ferry landing.

The post office has been located at her residence since 1906 when Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hanley, her uncle and aunt, moved the office into its present location.

Youth May Face Federal Charge

Terry Miles Cartwright, 17, of Vienna, Ohio, apprehended early Wednesday for theft of an East Liverpool auto, still is being held in City Jail and may face federal charges in connection with a total of three vehicle thefts, Chief A. J. Radeschi said today.

The chief said he expects the youth will be referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with the series of thefts that began Friday night when he ran away from the George Junior Republic at Grove City, Pa.

He was taken into custody at Mingo Junction after abandoning an auto reported stolen by Dr. Roland D. Stover of Broadview Circle.

The chief said the boy has admitted he stole a truck at Grove City, abandoning it in Rochester. He stole a 1960 convertible at Rochester and drove it to East Liverpool, abandoning it on W. 8th St., and then took Dr. Stover's auto, the chief said.

Broader Service Discussed During Red Cross Event

Forty trained volunteers of the East Liverpool Area Chapter of the American Red Cross, who serve in the city's hospitals, met at the chapter office in Mary Patterson Memorial Wednesday night to discuss present hospital assignments and the development of the volunteers' service to the hospitals. Mrs. Marie Hays, chairman of the volunteers, presided.

Mrs. Marion Thompson, chairman of volunteers for the chapter, welcomed the group and Mrs. Lilyan Alpern, who has served as recruitment chairman for the former Gray Ladies group, reviewed the need for "dependability, tolerance and teamwork."

After thanking the group for services performed, Mrs. Hays informed the volunteers that nursing homes in the area and the School for Retarded Children at Elkton would be glad to have volunteers to assist with their programs.

She also pointed out that after approval of the program by the proper authorities, use of trained volunteers in the school health room may be launched as a pilot project in one of the local schools.

Miss Mary Catherine Brady, executive director of the area chapter, was introduced to the group.

An organizational meeting for anyone interested in joining the Gray Ladies will be held next Wednesday night at 7:30 at the chapter office.

Testimony Due In Murder Trial Of Donald Boggs

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Testimony was expected to begin this afternoon in Coconino County Superior Court in the Donald M. Boggs murder case, unprecedented in Arizona.

The jury will have only two alternatives under Arizona law —a life term in the state prison or death for the 23-year-old Boggs in the gas chamber.

A panel of 32 jurors, plus three alternates was completed Wednesday after three days of proceedings from which a jury of 12 and one alternate will be named.

Boggs, a former convict from Londonderry, Ohio, pleaded guilty to shooting Robert D. Willis and Halvor Johnson, both of Newport, N. H., last Labor Day. Boggs asked for a jury to decide his fate.

The prosecution has scheduled seven witnesses, including John Harvey, a Flagstaff service station attendant who became suspicious of Boggs and called the sheriff. Boggs's arrest followed a few minutes later.

To stand trial March 7 on two counts of murder is Boggs' 16-year-old girl friend, Dixie Lee Radcliff, daughter of an Amesville, Ohio preacher. She has pleaded innocent to the crimes.

British Radio Pirate Ship Driven Onto Beach By Storm

LONDON (AP)—A North Sea storm drove Britain's pioneer radio pirate ship onto British territory today. But the government said it wouldn't seize Radio Caroline unless she started broadcasting.

Rescue teams brought five disc jockeys and two technicians ashore by breeches buoy through heavy seas. The Dutch skipper and his crew stayed abroad.

Caroline, based on a converted sailing ship, was the first of the radio pirates to take to the seas to beat the British ban on commercial radio. Anchored outside territorial waters and broadcasting pop records between the commercials, her operators claim that in two years she has attracted daily audiences of up to 30 million in Britain and Western Europe.

The Pirate started dragging her anchors Wednesday night soon after she went off the air for the night. The Coast Guard noticed she was in danger and for three hours tried in vain to call her on the emergency radio net. People ashore tried to signal by flashing auto headlights.

Caroline went aground within 50 yards of Frinton's cliffs. The Coast Guard rescue squad was waiting to fire a rocket carrying the breeches buoy line.

Graham Webb, one of the first disc jockeys ashore, reported: "We felt the ship bumping about, but it has been so rough lately that no one took any notice.

"The sea was very rough and the winds very high, but we went on watching television. It wasn't until the wrestling was on that we realized we were in trouble."

Once she was inside the three-mile limit, Caroline was within the reach of British law.

Firestone spoke Wednesday before a meeting of the Pennsylvania Railroad Freight Agents Association.

Caroline went aground within 50 yards of Frinton's cliffs. The Coast Guard rescue squad was waiting to fire a rocket carrying the breeches buoy line.

Graham Webb, one of the first disc jockeys ashore, reported: "We felt the ship bumping about, but it has been so rough lately that no one took any notice.

"The sea was very rough and the winds very high, but we went on watching television. It wasn't until the wrestling was on that we realized we were in trouble."

Once she was inside the three-mile limit, Caroline was within the reach of British law.

Air Force Needs Male Nurses And Officer Trainees

Staff Sgt. Ray M. Stanley, Air Force representative for the area, announced today that, effective immediately, the Air Force will accept applications from male nurses as well as from young women. In addition, married nurses now may apply, providing they have no dependents other than a husband.

Direct commissions of second lieutenant, first lieutenant or captain will be offered to qualified applicants based on the amount of education and experience they have had, Sgt. Stanley said.

Interested young men or women nurses may call him or visit his office in the City Hall for additional information.

The sergeant also point d out that an immediate need exists for officer trainees in a wide variety of fields.

Included in the new list of officer requirements is the scientific and engineering category, pilot and navigator fields and many other career development areas.

After graduation from Officer Training School, conducted at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, each newly - commissioned officer is assigned directly to duty or to further specialized training.

Action Again Delayed On Plan By Attorneys

For the second time in six days, the Hancock County commissioners Wednesday refused to act on the Hancock County Bar Association's resolution to reconsider the appointment of commissioners of accounts.

James Finley of Weirton, County Court president, told the bar association's executive committee and about a dozen attorneys at yesterday's special meeting that a decision could be expected at the court's regular meeting on Feb. 7.

Finley made his comment after a motion by Commissioner Jack Evans of New Cumberland that the court readopt the original resolution on the appointment of accounts commissioners died for the lack of a second.

The resolution in effect since January 1960, calls for the rotation of four account commissioners every two years. In the words of Prosecuting Atty. Floyd Tarr, "With this system we have eliminated any possibility of playing politics."

At the court's organizational meeting on Jan. 4, Commissioner William C. Graham of Chester moved that four attorneys, two of whom already had served terms as accounts commissioners, be appointed in place of the four attorneys scheduled to serve.

The motion was seconded by Finley, with Evans voting against scrapping the original resolution.

Arthur J. Recht of Weirton, bar association president, told the court any further delay would adversely affect the estates now due for action. Under West Virginia law, accounts commissioners have duties similar to probate judges in Ohio.

Evans advised the bar's executive committee that any action or motion would have to come from Graham, since he had proposed the out-of-turn appointments.

In the long discussion, Recht reiterated what he had told Commissioners Evans and Finley at the Jan. 13 meeting. It was chiefly that the system proposed by the bar association in 1959 and adopted by the court effective Jan. 1, 1960, had eliminated political preferences from appointments, and that the system had worked well during the last six years.

Don Donnell of Weirton, bar association secretary, pointed out that Graham had served on the County Court at the time the resolution originally was adopted and had not voiced any opposition.

When Donnell asked Graham why he had disregarded the resolution, the Chester commissioner replied, "I'm not going to give any opinion now. I want a few days to think about this."

DONNELL advised the court that some members of the bar association had suggested the problem be settled by "voting the commissioners responsible out of office," but added that he did not believe that was the answer and would not settle anything.

Also attending yesterday's meeting to lend support to the bar association's case was James Jordan of Chester, who said the recent publicity over the issue had caused some dissension among members of the association.

Ruth Cox Turner, also of Chester, cited the earlier problems the county had encountered when "lay commissioners of accounts" had been appointed and were not fully acquainted with the law and legal procedures.

Also taking the stand in support of the bar association were George Konchar, county clerk, and Sheriff Joseph Rodak.

Leonard C. Alpert, Weirton attorney, pointed out to the commissioners that he had not heard a single argument against the bar association's resolution, adding that the drawing up of the resolution in 1959 was "a high point in the history of the bar association."

ALTHOUGH the final decision was delayed, the court ruled that two of the four attorneys appointed Jan. 4 — William E. Conklin of Chester and Emmanuel E. Loucas of Weirton—would continue as commissioners since they already had taken the oath of office.

The other two appointed by the court — Callie Tsapis of Chester and Thomas D. Hagg of Weirton — have not been sworn in.

Scheduled to serve under the bar association's system were Norman D. Ferrari Jr., Frank A. Pietranton, Vito Cantenaro and Carl Frankovich, all of Weirton.

In three states, New Jersey, North Dakota, and South Dakota, suicide attempts are punishable by law.

In the long discussion, Recht reiterated what he had told Commissioners Evans and Finley at the Jan. 13 meeting. It was chiefly that the system proposed by the bar association in 1959 and adopted by the court effective Jan. 1, 1960, had eliminated political preferences from appointments, and that the system had worked well during the last six years.

Don Donnell of Weirton, bar association secretary, pointed out that Graham had served on the County Court at the time the resolution originally was adopted and had not voiced any opposition.

When Donnell asked Graham why he had disregarded the resolution, the Chester commissioner replied, "I'm not going to give any opinion now. I want a few days to think about this."

DONNELL advised the court that some members of the bar association had suggested the problem be settled by "voting the commissioners responsible out of office," but added that he did not believe that was the answer and would not settle anything.

Also attending yesterday's meeting to lend support to the bar association's case was James Jordan of Chester, who said the recent publicity over the issue had caused some dissension among members of the association.

Ruth Cox Turner, also of Chester, cited the earlier problems the county had encountered when "lay commissioners of accounts" had been appointed and were not fully acquainted with the law and legal procedures.

Also taking the stand in support of the bar association were George Konchar, county clerk, and Sheriff Joseph Rodak.

Leonard C. Alpert, Weirton attorney, pointed out to the commissioners that he had not heard a single argument against the bar association's resolution, adding that the drawing up of the resolution in 1959 was "a high point in the history of the bar association."

—:—

ALTHOUGH the final decision was delayed, the court ruled that two of the four attorneys appointed Jan. 4 — William E. Conklin of Chester and Emmanuel E. Loucas of Weirton—would continue as commissioners since they already had taken the oath of office.

The other two appointed by the court — Callie Tsapis of Chester and Thomas D. Hagg of Weirton — have not been sworn in.

Scheduled to serve under the bar association's system were Norman D. Ferrari Jr., Frank A. Pietranton, Vito Cantenaro and Carl Frankovich, all of Weirton.

In three states, New Jersey, North Dakota, and South Dakota, suicide attempts are punishable by law.

said, adding: "The decision is now up to Hanoi."

—Authoritative sources reported it might be as long as six months before the Philippines sends any troops to Viet Nam. When a Philippine detachment is sent, it is likely to be a non-combat engineering battalion — about 2,000 men. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the possibility of Philippine help for the U.S. effort in Viet Nam during recent talks with the new Philippines president, Ferdinand E. Marcos.

—Academic experts in a number of fields will participate in a conference here on Viet Nam Friday and Saturday. The conference was initiated by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., to give Congress the benefit of hearing from "independent sources of knowledge and expertise."

—President Johnson presented the presidential unit citation for extraordinary gallantry to the Air Force's 38th Air Rescue Squadron for life-saving helicopter operations in Viet Nam. Four squadron members represented the unit at the White House ceremonies Wednesday.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee already has called for a report by Rusk at a closed session Monday on the situation as he found it on his recent visit to Saigon.

Its members will hear Rusk and McNamara later next week on the $415 million in economic aid for South Viet Nam asked by the President as part of the war fund package.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has scheduled an appearance by McNamara next Wednesday. Its appropriations group also wants to hear from him, but as yet has not fixed a date.

Johnson said Wednesday in a letter to House Speaker John W. McCormack that "there is no difference between one party and another or between the Congress and the executive branch when it comes to effective and sustained support of our fighting men and their allies."

However, Johnson's report that he can't say whether his efforts to "open a road to a peaceful settlement" will succeed is likely to spark demands for an early decision on escalating the war if there is no Communist response.

Russell already has said he believes the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets has lasted too long.

Holt never appeared to become impatient and probably never was, so intense was his admiration and loyalty for Menzies. He also had the comfortable knowledge that the prime minister regarded him as his heir apparent.

As prime minister, Holt will head a coalition of the Liberal and Country parties. He told a news conference following a meeting with Country party leader John McEwen that the two could see no problems in continuing the good relations between the two parties.

No threat is expected from the opposition Labor party, at least until the general election late this year. The Labor party is sorely troubled by internal strife.

Holt is expected to continue Menzies' policies of close ties with Britain and the United States, including Australia's commitment in Viet Nam where its troops are fighting alongside U.S. forces.

Captain, Crew Saved From Sinking Ship

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—The captain and all 33 crew members of the 12,000-ton German freighter Kremsertor were rescued by tug and helicopter today in the gale-swept English Channel.

The captain and six others were taken off by helicopter as the ship wallowed with a 45-degree list off the coast of southwest England.

The rest of the crew was transferred by dinghies to the French tug Atlantic. The dinghies were dropped by Royal Air Force rescue planes.

The rescued men were reported unhurt. The helicopter crews said the freighter was sinking.

said, adding: "The decision is now up to Hanoi."

—Authoritative sources reported it might be as long as six months before the Philippines sends any troops to Viet Nam. When a Philippine detachment is sent, it is likely to be a non-combat engineering battalion — about 2,000 men. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the possibility of Philippine help for the U.S. effort in Viet Nam during recent talks with the new Philippines president, Ferdinand E. Marcos.

—Academic experts in a number of fields will participate in a conference here on Viet Nam Friday and Saturday. The conference was initiated by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., to give Congress the benefit of hearing from "independent sources of knowledge and expertise."

—President Johnson presented the presidential unit citation for extraordinary gallantry to the Air Force's 38th Air Rescue Squadron for life-saving helicopter operations in Viet Nam. Four squadron members represented the unit at the White House ceremonies Wednesday.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee already has called for a report by Rusk at a closed session Monday on the situation as he found it on his recent visit to Saigon.

Its members will hear Rusk and McNamara later next week on the $415 million in economic aid for South Viet Nam asked by the President as part of the war fund package.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has scheduled an appearance by McNamara next Wednesday. Its appropriations group also wants to hear from him, but as yet has not fixed a date.

Johnson said Wednesday in a letter to House Speaker John W. McCormack that "there is no difference between one party and another or between the Congress and the executive branch when it comes to effective and sustained support of our fighting men and their allies."

However, Johnson's report that he can't say whether his efforts to "open a road to a peaceful settlement" will succeed is likely to spark demands for an early decision on escalating the war if there is no Communist response.

Russell already has said he believes the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets has lasted too long.

Now, they are on the bench together.

waited, such potential rivals as Sir Percy Spender and Sir Garfield Barwick moved from the political arena to the judiciary.

Holt never appeared to become impatient and probably never was, so intense was his admiration and loyalty for Menzies. He also had the comfortable knowledge that the prime minister regarded him as his heir apparent.

As prime minister, Holt will head a coalition of the Liberal and Country parties. He told a news conference following a meeting with Country party leader John McEwen that the two could see no problems in continuing the good relations between the two parties.

No threat is expected from the opposition Labor party, at least until the general election late this year. The Labor party is sorely troubled by internal strife.

Holt is expected to continue Menzies' policies of close ties with Britain and the United States, including Australia's commitment in Viet Nam where its troops are fighting alongside U.S. forces.

Periodic eye tests are given to all employed in the making of color television sets to unearth those whose visual defects could effect the quality of the receivers.

While no one has yet been found color blind, several people have been found to have a color deficiency, and transferred to other departments.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I wonder if you have ever thought of making dish cloths out of the good part of your worn - out chenille housecoats?

If the chenille is lightweight, double the material and sew as you would a pillowcase, closing the open end after you have turned the little case inside out.

Always have the chenille on the outside.

To make a fantabulous dishcloth, use just one thickness of chenille, and sew two thicknesses of nylon net on the smooth side of the cloth.

HARD-HEARTED HANNAH

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a narrow place to paint, such as between the wall and the stove or refrigerator, just tape a brush on the end of a yardstick, and you've got it made.

ELEANOR POLLOCK.

DEAR HELOISE: When you wrote and told my wife to use black liquid shoe dye to hide the spots where she had spilled bleach on her black crepe dress, it dawned on me . . . why not try dyeing my soiled tan canvas shoes with the dye that was left?

So, I did!

They look brand new. I put tape on the white rubber soles around the edge to keep the black dye off the white part.

JIM SMITH

Well, Jim, I didn't have any canvas shoes but I dyed some leather shoes which had rubber soles. I also dyed the edge of the sole black. It worked beautifully for me. Now, the discolorations around the edge of the soles do not even show.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My secret to success is I never let the other fellow know what I didn't know!

"SUCCESSFUL."

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick and delicious cup cake (or cake) icing, melted marshmallows are the greatest!

Just a few minutes before removing the cup cakes from the oven, top each one with a marshmallow, and they will melt to cover the cakes with yummy frosting. Don't leave 'em too long—just until melted and slightly brown.

Delish!

HELEN D

DEAR GALS: This is to all of you who buy expensive moisturizer creams in glass jars.

Once you think you have gotten all you can out of the jar, recap and set it upside down under the hot water faucet, letting the hot water run over it for a few minutes.

Remove the jar—leaving it capped — and let it stand upside down for a while.

You will get enough moisturizer to last you another week, and the jar will be clean as a whistle.

This also works on other products that come in plastic or glass jars.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I converted an old shower curtain into a couple of laundry bags.

I used the upper half of the curtain, cutting the bottom half off. I then cut the top half in two pieces, and sewed across the bottoms and sides.

I inserted a cord drawstring through the holes where the shower hooks are attached. I use the drawstring to close the bags.

These bags are also a good place for your dampened laundry.

Move Over, GOP's Coming, Scranton Warns Democrats

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania has a warning for the Democrats: "Move over — the Republicans are coming."

Scranton, speaking at a Republican fund-raising dinner, told the GOP to get about the business of winning elections.

"Let notice be served here and now that we are in the business of winning elections," he asserted. "And this is a good time, too, to serve notice on the leadership of the other party."

The Republican governor maintained it is time for the Democratic Party, which "has been the majority party . . . in almost every moment of the past three decades . . ." to be held accountable for "the failures which dot our national landscape."

He said "the Democratic Party has not moved from the sterile approach which for 30 years has failed to solve our most pressing national problems."

"All must be done by the federal government — that's their one and only approach," he said.

He said Republicans "can serve America best" by fighting for four of its traditional principles:

—"Sound, fiscal policy—with all that it entails.

—"Strong state and local governments—for the future of America.

—"A firm foreign policy, rooted in strength—for us and the free world."

—"Human rights for every human being."

He also said a "dangerous flaw" exists in the Johnson Administration's foreign policy that "confuses both our friends and our enemies."

"In the nuclear age, either can be fatal," he said.

He said that for years Republicans had advocated — and practices under the Eisenhower Administration—"A foreign policy based on strength, firmness and consistent leadership."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I wonder if you have ever thought of making dish cloths out of the good part of your worn - out chenille housecoats?

If the chenille is lightweight, double the material and sew as you would a pillowcase, closing the open end after you have turned the little case inside out.

Always have the chenille on the outside.

To make a fantabulous dishcloth, use just one thickness of chenille, and sew two thicknesses of nylon net on the smooth side of the cloth.

HARD-HEARTED HANNAH

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a narrow place to paint, such as between the wall and the stove or refrigerator, just tape a brush on the end of a yardstick, and you've got it made.

ELEANOR POLLOCK.

DEAR HELOISE: When you wrote and told my wife to use black liquid shoe dye to hide the spots where she had spilled bleach on her black crepe dress, it dawned on me . . . why not try dyeing my soiled tan canvas shoes with the dye that was left?

So, I did!

They look brand new. I put tape on the white rubber soles around the edge to keep the black dye off the white part.

JIM SMITH

Well, Jim, I didn't have any canvas shoes but I dyed some leather shoes which had rubber soles. I also dyed the edge of the sole black. It worked beautifully for me. Now, the discolorations around the edge of the soles do not even show.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My secret to success is I never let the other fellow know what I didn't know!

"SUCCESSFUL."

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick and delicious cup cake (or cake) icing, melted marshmallows are the greatest!

Just a few minutes before removing the cup cakes from the oven, top each one with a marshmallow, and they will melt to cover the cakes with yummy frosting. Don't leave 'em too long—just until melted and slightly brown.

Delish!

HELEN D

DEAR GALS: This is to all of you who buy expensive moisturizer creams in glass jars.

Once you think you have gotten all you can out of the jar, recap and set it upside down under the hot water faucet, letting the hot water run over it for a few minutes.

Remove the jar—leaving it capped — and let it stand upside down for a while.

You will get enough moisturizer to last you another week, and the jar will be clean as a whistle.

This also works on other products that come in plastic or glass jars.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I converted an old shower curtain into a couple of laundry bags.

I used the upper half of the curtain, cutting the bottom half off. I then cut the top half in two pieces, and sewed across the bottoms and sides.

I inserted a cord drawstring through the holes where the shower hooks are attached. I use the drawstring to close the bags.

These bags are also a good place for your dampened laundry.

Simon Says Go!

New Director Has Many Interests

The outlook for future management of the Crucible Steel Co. is currently resting largly upon the shoulders of a 58-year-old Los Angeles self-made millionaire.

Norton Simon, who has become a director and chairman of the finance committee of Crucible in the current stock market battle for control of the specialty steel firm, has few rivals across the nation in the diversity of his financial interests.

Using Hunt Foods & Industries as a base, Simon has built a far - flung corporate empire in soft drinks, magazine publishing, meat packing, broadcasting and steel.

With Simon, there was added to Crucible's board Jack Clumeck, vice chairman of Hunt's finance committee; Robert Morris, president of the Wheeling Steel Corp.; in which Hunt has a controlling 11 per cent stock, and Raymond Rich, chairman of the McCall Corp, in which Hunt has 36 per cent ownership.

THIS ALIGNMENT was the answer of Joel Hunter, Crucible president, to a move by Morris J. Rubin, Chicago industrialist, and some other Crucible stockholders—including Arthur Lonergan and Dr. William Rosenbaum of Scottsdale, Ariz. — who were protesting some Crucible policies and seeking to purchase controlling amounts of stock.

Lonergan and Dr. Rosenbaum apparently became major Crucible stockholders with the purchase of shares sold by the Remington Arms Co. more than a year ago.

Rubin said his group was formed "to assist and stimulate the progress of Crucible in the shortest possible time," and charged that Crucible has "failed to keep pace" with the growth of other competing steel firms.

There is little doubt that Simon and his three aides, who have four of the 12 seats on the Crucible board, are here to stay if Hunt consolidates its position in Crucible.

Simon has a history of moving decisively into a corporate picture and of seeking to stimulate improvement by change.

He has been quoted as declaring, "there is always a tendency by longtime in-management to play it safe, and thus too safe, and thus, not safe at all." He insists he uses Hunt's money to make sound investments and wants to stir a little of his own energy into stagnant companies.

HE WAS BORN Feb. 5, 1907, at Portland, Ore., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Simon, and attended Lowell High School at San Francisco, according to "Who's Who In America."

He was married Feb. 3, 1933, to the former Lucille Ellis. They have two sons, Donald and Robert.

Simon was with Steel Products of Los Angeles in 1927-33, then joined Vita Food Products at Fullerton, Calif., becoming president.

In February 1943, he was elected president of the Hunt Brothers Packing Co. of San Francisco and became chairman of the board in 1944, serving until 1956. He has remained a director and top executive, currently serving as chairman of the finance committee.

NORTON SIMON
New Crucible Director.

With Simon at the helm, Hunt in 1964 obtained 20 per cent of the Canada Dry Corp., the biggest U.S. maker of ginger ale and soda water and the third largest producer of soft drinks — after Coca Cola and Pepsi Cola.

—:—

SIMON HAD BEEN a small shareholder in New York-based Canada Dry since 1960 and became interested in putting Hunt into the picture when he noticed Canada Dry's development had not matched Coca Cola or Pepsi.

Hunt also controls McCall, the publishing firm, owns Wesson Oil, Ohio Match, Fuller Paint and a sizable share of Wheeling Steel and has had a major investment in Swift & Co.

At the same time Simon got into the Canada Dry operation, he bought 95,000 shares of American Broadcasting - Paramount Pictures, raising to 205,000 shares the investment in the company's 4.6 million shares.

HE HAS SET the same exciting tempo in his acquisition of art works, in which he is keenly interested.

In only 10 years, he assembled two separate art collections with a value of over $50 million. The larger collection is owned by the Norton Simon Foundation, part of it on loan to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

The other collection is his personal one which hangs in his office at Fullerton and his homes at Los Angeles and Newport Beach.

Many market analysts at New York doubt if Rubin and his group can dislodge the Simon interests in Crucible.

The Wall St. Journal last week quoted one steel industry observer on his opinion of Simon — "He's a very astute type. If he decides to move, he knows beforehand that it's going to be successful."

OSU Officials Voice Concern Over Narcotics

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials expressed concern today "lest the dramatic exposure of a narcotics ring in the university area cause the entire student body to be branded when only four have been implicated by police."

John T. Bonner Jr., executive dean for student relations, who has been in close touch with police investigators, said "only one one-hundredth of 1 per cent of the more than 40,000 students currently enrolled at OSU is allegedly involved in the use of Marijuana."

Bonner also stressed that no evidence has been uncovered that the ring actually operated on the campus or that any university property has been used. Police raids have been on private apartments on the campus fringe. Cases of 19 persons arrested are pending in municipal court.

Man Who Told Police He Was Kidnaped Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 61-year-old grocer who told police he was kidnaped for five hours Tuesday and released unharmed died today at his home.

Harry A. Strilko, his hands bound in front of him by a four-foot length of jute twine, Tuesday walked into a taproom where a bartender untied him.

Dr. E. M. Weinberg, Strilko's family physician, reported the grocer died in bed today of a heart attack. Weinberg said Strilko has been under treatment for a heart condition.

Strilko was a business associate of Louis Cohen, who was found trussed with wire in the trunk of locked car last May 5. Cohen had been fatally shot. Police believe the killer or killers were after large amounts of money Cohen habitually had on his person.

Strilko told police he was kidnaped by a man he never saw during his ordeal. Strilko's wife, Ruth, received a telephone call demanding $5,000 for the safe return of her husband. She told police the caller said her husband would be killed if she did not pay.

Simon Says Go!

New Director Has Many Interests

The outlook for future management of the Crucible Steel Co. is currently resting largly upon the shoulders of a 58-year-old Los Angeles self-made millionaire.

Norton Simon, who has become a director and chairman of the finance committee of Crucible in the current stock market battle for control of the specialty steel firm, has few rivals across the nation in the diversity of his financial interests.

Using Hunt Foods & Industries as a base, Simon has built a far - flung corporate empire in soft drinks, magazine publishing, meat packing, broadcasting and steel.

With Simon, there was added to Crucible's board Jack Clumeck, vice chairman of Hunt's finance committee; Robert Morris, president of the Wheeling Steel Corp.; in which Hunt has a controlling 11 per cent stock, and Raymond Rich, chairman of the McCall Corp. in which Hunt has 36 per cent ownership.

THIS ALIGNMENT was the answer of Joel Hunter, Crucible president, to a move by Morris J. Rubin, Chicago industrialist, and some other Crucible stockholders—including Arthur Lonergan and Dr. William Rosenbaum of Scottsdale, Ariz. — who were protesting some Crucible policies and seeking to purchase controlling amounts of stock.

Lonergan and Dr. Rosenbaum apparently became major Crucible stockholders with the purchase of shares sold by the Remington Arms Co. more than a year ago.

Rubin said his group was formed "to assist and stimulate the progress of Crucible in the shortest possible time," and charged that Crucible has "failed to keep pace" with the growth of other competing steel firms.

There is little doubt that Simon and his three aides, who have four of the 12 seats on the Crucible board, are here to stay if Hunt consolidates its position in Crucible.

Simon has a history of moving decisively into a corporate picture and of seeking to stimulate improvement by change.

He has been quoted as declaring," 'there is always a tendency by longtime in-management to play it safe, and thus too safe, and thus, not safe at all." He insists he uses Hunt's money to make sound investments and wants to stir a little of his own energy into stagnant companies.

HE WAS BORN Feb. 5, 1907, at Portland, Ore., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Simon, and attended Lowell High School at San Francisco, according to "Who's Who In America."

He was married Feb. 3, 1933, to the former Lucille Ellis. They have two sons, Donald and Robert.

Simon was with Steel Products of Los Angeles in 1927-33, then joined Vita Food Products at Fullerton, Calif., becoming president.

In February 1943, he was elected president of the Hunt Brothers Packing Co. of San Francisco and became chairman of the board in 1944, serving until 1956. He has remained a director and top executive, currently serving as chairman of the finance committee.

NORTON SIMON
New Crucible Director.

With Simon at the helm, Hunt in 1964 obtained 20 per cent of the Canada Dry Corp., the biggest U.S. maker of ginger ale and soda water and the third largest producer of soft drinks — after Coca Cola and Pepsi Cola.

SIMON HAD BEEN a small shareholder in New York-based Canada Dry since 1960 and became interested in putting Hunt into the picture when he noticed Canada Dry's development had not matched Coca Cola or Pepsi.

Hunt also controls McCall, the publishing firm, owns Wesson Oil, Ohio Match, Fuller Paint and a sizable share of Wheeling Steel and has had a major investment in Swift & Co.

At the same time Simon got into the Canada Dry operation, he bought 95,000 shares of American Broadcasting - Paramount Pictures, raising to 205,000 shares the investment in the company's 4.6 million shares.

HE HAS SET the same exciting tempo in his acquisition of art works, in which he is keenly interested.

In only 10 years, he assembled two separate art collections with a value of over $50 million. The larger collection is owned by the Norton Simon Foundation, part of it on loan to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

The other collection is his personal one which hangs in his office at Fullerton and his homes at Los Angeles and Newport Beach.

Many market analysts at New York doubt if Rubin and his group can dislodge the Simon interests in Crucible.

The Wall St. Journal last week quoted one steel industry observer on his opinion of Simon — "He's a very astute type. If he decides to move, he knows beforehand that it's going to be successful."

OSU Officials Voice Concern Over Narcotics

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials expressed concern today "lest the dramatic exposure of a narcotics ring in the university area cause the entire student body to be branded when only four have been implicated by police."

John T. Bonner Jr., executive dean for student relations, who has been in close touch with police investigators, said "only one one-hundredth of 1 per cent of the more than 40,000 students currently enrolled at OSU is allegedly involved in the use of Marijuana."

Bonner also stressed that no evidence has been uncovered that the ring actually operated on the campus or that any university property has been used. Police raids have been on private apartments on the campus fringe. Cases of 19 persons arrested are pending in municipal court.

Man Who Told Police He Was Kidnaped Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 61-year-old grocer who told police he was kidnaped for five hours Tuesday and released unharmed died today at his home.

Harry A. Strilko, his hands bound in front of him by a four-foot length of jute twine, Tuesday walked into a taproom where a bartender untied him.

Dr. E. M. Weinberg, Strilko's family physician, reported the grocer died in bed today of a heart attack. Weinberg said Strilko has been under treatment for a heart condition.

Strilko was a business associate of Louis Cohen, who was found trussed with wire in the trunk of locked car last May 5. Cohen had been fatally shot. Police believe the killer or killers were after large amounts of money Cohen habitually had on his person.

Strilko told police he was kidnaped by a man he never saw during his ordeal. Strilko's wife, Ruth, received a telephone call demanding $5,000 for the safe return of her husband. She told police the caller said her husband would be killed if she did not pay.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I was horrified at your advice to the mother who undressed in the presence of her 12-year-old son. Her attitude was a healthy one—that the human body is beautiful and that children should not grow up hiding themselves because their parents made them ashamed.

According to the mother's letter a friend criticized her and then you sided with him, saying that a 12-year-old boy is well on his way to manhood. Then you dragged in that ugly word seduction. Only an evil mind could dream up a nation so revolting.

When I first started to read your column I thought you were square. Later I decided you were Mid-Victorian. Now I think you are a "kook". Parents who follow your advice will produce repressed and sexually maladjusted children.—NO FIG LEAF MALE.

Dear No Fig: You don't indicate whether you are married or single. If you are married I hope you don't have daughters.

Robert Louis Stevenson was more psychiatrist than novelist when he wrote, "We all have feelings that would shame hell." The experts tell us that sexual fantasies begin long before puberty, and an active imagination has no regard for propriety, cultural taboos or anything else. Parents should not parade nude before children who have reached the age of 6. If you don't want to take the word of the behavorial authorities, read a little Greek literature.

Double Jeopardy

Dear Ann: My deceased grandmother's dearest friend calls me at least four times a week to drive her to the hair dresser, the ladies' aid, the eye doctor, the foot doctor, the heart specialist or to her bridge game.

Just before Christmas she said, "I wouldn't insult you with a commercial gift." She then presented me with a faded afghan, full of moth holes. "This has been in our family for years," she said, choked with emotion. "I want you to have it."

For my birthday she gave me another "precious heirloom"—a cracked dresser mirror with a bent handle.

My problem is two-fold. (1) How can I let her know I don't want her heirlooms because they mean nothing to me? (2) How can I get out of the chauffeur's uniform? — DOUBLE STUCK.

Dear Double: You are indeed stuck with the heirlooms so accept them with grace then discard them. You can't say they mean nothing to you without hurting her feelings.

About the chauffeur bit: Make your plans for the day early and when she calls, you can tell her you are occupied.

Anger Dropouts

Dear Ann: Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who resented unexpected visits from her clergyman. I suspect that letter was written by a member of my parish.

I wonder how the apostles and the disciples and the clergymen who followed them for 1800 years let members of their flock know they were going to call. They had no phones in those days. The woman who complained would probably expect the Lord Jesus Christ to give her a ring in advance. — ST. LOUIS CLERGYMAN.

Dear Saint: I received dozens of letters from clergymen of all faiths who were unhappy because I supported the writer's notion that clergymen should not drop in unexpectedly. Hundreds of other women wrote to tell me they loved the advice and thanked me for it. So it boils down to this: Many clergymen prefer to drop in without first calling but the women don't like it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Weather Angle Poses Questions

New Ohio Law Adds Four Days To School Calendar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Most Ohio children are going to spend more days in school this year and fewer of them are going to get out of classes because of bad weather.

A new state law added four days to the minimum number of school days and also made it harder for schools to be dismissed because of snow, ice or similar emergencies.

The new law has forced some school districts to revise their school calendars for this year. And it has posed questions of who should decide when conditions are bad enough to close schools.

State School Supt. E. E. Holt has asked the attorney general to decide who has the authority to say when a calamity exists so schools can be closed without endangering a district's state aid.

The 1965 legislature increased the required minimum days from 176 to 180 and also set, for the first time, an absolute minimum of 175 days of instruction.

Districts can be excused for up to five days a year for emergency closings. If they have fewer than 175 days of school, they will not qualify for state aid next year.

The new law provides the state superintendent can excuse five days—down to the 175 minimum—because of disease epidemic, circumstances making school buildings unusable "or other public calamity."

It does not say specifically who decides when bad weather, for instance, is a "calamity."

The longer school year caught most districts by surprise. Most had already made their calendars on the basis of the 176-day minimum and many had to make revisions.

Cleveland and Columbus, for instance, made such minor shifts as changing half-days to whole days or cutting down between-semester breaks to make sure they were above the 180-day limit.

Some smaller districts, already close to the 176-day minimum, had to make even greater changes.

The longer school year was inserted by the House Education Committee, acting on a report which showed some districts well below the 176-day minimum and comparisons which showed neighboring states had longer school years than Ohio.

Michigan and West Virginia, for instance, both had 180-day calendars before Ohio.

Crackdown In Pennsylvania Urged On Thugs, Teen Gangs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association called today for stricter laws and tougher lawmen to crack down on everything from hoodlums and teenage gangs to "sitdowns, teachins, takeovers and liedowns."

"Our state executives and legislators, our prosecuting attorneys and our state and municipal police must seize the initiative in this war upon society and regain control of those vast areas which have been lost," William W. Litke told the PBA in a speech prepared for the opening of its annual meeting.

In a far ranging talk that touched on such things as world law, state constitutional revision and current affairs of the PBA, Litke said:

"A disciplined society, based upon law, cannot sanction organized and inflamed dissension and conflict between nationalities and races nor permit individuals nor groups to take the law into their own hands."

Litke called for rejection of "the new and dangerous philosophy that, not only is an offender presumed to be innocent and blameless, but further that society is presumed to be guilty and at fault."

In calling upon legislators for better and tougher laws, Litke said the most pressing need of the Commonwealth is a modern constitution.

He outlined the progress of various groups working for constitutional revision, including the PBA's own "Project Constitution," and called for members of the bar to campaign for public support of the movement.

A report from the "Project Constitution" committee is slated later in the four-day meeting, attended by several hundred lawyers representing the state's 67 counties.

Litke also outlined another report to be presented concerning the proposed establishment of a House of Delegates similar to that of the American Bar Association.

He said the 115-member House would give the PBA a greater uniformity in policy, which is now set by the entire membership at various meetings held in different areas of the state.

Two Big Secrets Now In Ohio's Democrat Camp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now there are two big secrets in Ohio's Democratic political camp.

One, of course, is former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's secret — one all his own, from all appearances: Will he seek his party's nomination for governor in the May 3 primary?

The new one is what was decided—if anything — in that Washington conference involving Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

It hasn't been disclosed even what was discussed at this week's huddle involving Humphrey, U. S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, State Sen. Frank W. King, and Hugo Alexander of the Ohio County Democratic Chairmen's Association.

If, as rumored, it was an effort to "draft" Sweeney to run against GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes, it apparently didn't cut any ice with the congressman-at-large.

About 23 per cent of all automobiles built during the 1965 model run had air conditioners installed at the factory.

Load Of Steel Shifts And Clips Utility Pole

A 14,500-pound load of steel bars shifted on a tractor - trailer Wednesday night at 6 on Pennsylvania Ave., causing the cargo to strike a utility pole and a city - owned route marker about 100 feet east of Turner Alley, police reported.

Officers said a broken binder chain apparently allowed the load to shift on a rig driven by Thomas R. Pinkerton, 24, of 121 W. 4th St. and owned by Robert Gallagher of Pittsburgh. Pinkerton said he was headed west about 10 miles an hour when the chain snapped.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson cited him on a charge of operating a vehicle with an insecure load. Pinkerton was fined $25 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Ohio Inventor Sues Firm For $3 Million

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A Bath Township inventor has sued the Tappan Co. of Mansfield for $3 million, charging that he was not paid royalties for his patents.

Hugh M. Rumbaugh also charged in the suit filed in Summit County Common Pleas Court that the company used improvements for dishwashers on which he had patents pending without compensating him.

It was announced that the board of directors has purchased a membership in the Hancock-Brooke County Mental Health Society and that four board members attended a Ruritans zone meeting in Zanesville, Ohio, on Jan. 12.

All committees were reappointed.

Mike Jones was program chairman.

Each member was requested to bring a prospective member and an additional guest to the next meeting on Feb. 15.

Rail Figure Says Post Needed For Transportation

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the Pennsylvania Railroad says America's transportation problems are so formidable that they require the attention of a cabinet-rank officer.

Stuart T. Saunders, chairman of the board of the railroad, urged the industry Wednesday to support President Johnson's proposal for the establishment of a department of transportation at the cabinet level.

He told the Economic Club of New York that "all segments of the industry should work together for passage of such legislation.

"Railroads especially should support the President's proposal since it offers them new hope," he said.

Saunders also proposed other changes in national transportation policy.

He suggested that the federal government encourage and expedite railroad mergers, give railroads the right to set their own prices, and remove restrictions on diversification and integration of transportation services.

Infant Girl Perishes, 3 Others Escape Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 15-month-old girl died, but three older children escaped unharmed, in a fire Wednesday that destroyed their tar paper-covered home in Springfield Township. Killed was Christine Frasier. Her mother was hospitalized with burns she suffered while trying to rescue the infant.

Firemen said the older children had been playing with matches.

Building Fund Set For Church

A building fund was established for capital needs during the annual congregation meeting of the Wellsville Covenant United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

A dinner preceded the meeting, which was conducted by the Rev. Bruce Davis and Edgar Davidson, retiring president of the trustees. Forty attended.

Elected as elders were William Barker, Thomas Nelson and Charles Stone, for three years; trustees, Edward Byers, James Leyda and Walter Nelson, three years, and Mrs. Thomas Hanlon, auditor for one year.

A budget of $18,000 was adopted. The congregation also reviewed the $50,000,000 fund of the denomination for capital needs in the next three years. The local church goal is $6,000.

Rep. Reilly To Seek Interm Auditor Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The campaign manager for State Auditor Roger Cloud in Cloud's bid for a four-year term as auditor hopes to keep Cloud's office chair warm for him between November and January. He is State Rep. Archer E. Reilly Jr. of Columbus, who took out Republican nominating petitions Wednesday for the interim term as auditor.

The term Reilly seeks runs from the Nov. 8 election till start of the four-year term in January. Election to the short tenure is required because Cloud is an appointive, rather than elective, occupant of the unexpired term of the late Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

The Federal Republic of Nigeria, with over 55 million people, has the largest population in Africa.

Man's Auto Struck Twice In Interval Of 30 Minutes

East Liverpool police chalked up five traffic mishaps in rapid succession this morning as freezing rain slicked streets, including two incidents in which an East End man's auto was struck twice within 30 minutes.

The troubles began at 6:30 a. m. for John W. Jackson of 824 Pennsylvania Ave., whose parked 1964 station wagon was damaged in a three-way collision on Pennsylvania Ave. 1,000 feet west of State St., police reported.

Also involved in the collision were a car driven by Dewey L. Morris, 66, of 121 W. 3rd St. and a 1965 two-door operated by Herbert L. Rogers, 24, of 215 2nd St., Chester, officers said.

Morris told officers he was in a line of traffic when the cars ahead of him began to halt. Morris said he attempted to stop and slid into Jackson's car. Rogers said he also attempted to halt, but his car slid and struck the Morris auto.

The second mishap involving Jackson's auto was timed at 7:10 at the same spot. His car was involved in a collision with a 1963 two-door sedan driven by Henry C. Wilkes, 62, of 1807 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville.

Wilkes said Jackson pulled in front of him. The Wellsville man said he attempted to halt, but his car slid sideways and hit Jackson's. The mishap caused extensive damage to the right front of the Wilkes car and also damaged the right front of Jackson's auto. In the first collision, there was damage to the right fender of the Jackson vehicle.

A skid also was blamed for a collision at 8:50 this morning on W. 8th St. 100 feet east of Shadyside Ave.

The crash damaged a 1963 two-door sedan driven by Shirley Plunkett, 33, of Hammondsville and a 1962 four-door sedan operated by Omie Wolski, 41, of Wellsville R. D. 1.

Wolski told officers his eastbound car began to slide, went off onto the berm and then hit the Plunkett auto, also eastbound in the other lane of the four-lane road.

Patsy L. London of 713 E. 4th St. told police his 1961 model four-door sedan was damaged in a hit-skip collision at 5:15 a. m. today while parked on E. 4th St. about 150 feet west of Pennsylvania Ave.

London said a neighbor heard a crash and came to his house to rouse him from bed. London said he investigated and found the left front of his auto had been damaged by a hit-skip vehicle.

Potters To Face Valley's Top Scorer Saturday

The East Liverpool Potters will face the leading scorer in the Ohio Valley in one of two games this weekend.

Coach Frank Chan and his team will return to Steubenville Friday night to meet the Central Crusaders but didn't have much luck last week on the Community Arena floor losing to Steubenville Big Red, 62-61.

THE POTTER-Central game Friday is the second contest of a doubleheader at the Arena and won't get under way until at least 9 p. m. Big Red and Weirton clash in the first game at 7:30 p. m.

Central owns a 2-6 record, but for Coach John Nese it has been a frustrating season so far. In three defeats on their home floor, the Crusaders lost all three games in the last five seconds.

They lost to Toronto in overtime, then was defeated by Wellsville and Big Red in the last five seconds. In the Big Red game, Central led by 18 points at halftime.

STEUBENVILLE has defeated Pittsburgh Westinghouse and Bellaire St. John's.

Nese pointed out that the loss of regular center Gene Babicz, a 6-foot senior, for several games slowed his team. Babicz is getting over a dislocated shoulder but will start against the Potters Friday.

The leading scorer for Central is Gary Magary, a 6-foot senior, while the other starters are Jerry Madden, 6-2 senior, Mike Giannamore 5-9 junior and Jerry Shannon, 5-10 senior.

BELLAIRE invades Memorial Auditorium Saturday night and will be led to East Liverpool by co-captain Mike Sherwood, a 6-foot junior, who is currently scoring at a 26.5 average and leads the Class AA scorers in the Ohio Valley.

A fine outside shot, his high for the season was a 38-point effort against Moundsville. In nine games he has scored 238 points on 103 field goals and 32 of 44 foul shots.

He specializes on the long jump shot but also is a good playmaker.

Bellaire went over the century mark in defeating Weirton Madonna, 102-95 and lost a 105-96 game to Moundsville. Other victories were over Bellaire St. John's, 58-52 and Marietta, 69-63. The Big Red was on a five-game losing streak before turning back Madonna.

COACH Clair Cribbs, the former All-American at Pitt University, plans to start Jeff Schleicher, a 5-10 senior, who has found the scoring range in his last four games, along with Tony Tiehowicz, 6-5 center, sophomore Charlie Sechrest, 5-11 and Bob Johnson a 6-2 junior.

East Liverpool goes after their fourth and fifth victories this weekend and Chan doesn't plan any change in the starting line-up.

Foss Voids Disputed AFL Trade In Get-Tough Action

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) —Commissioner Joe Foss, in voiding the disputed trade involving San Diego's Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, took the fourth and final step in a get-tough policy that figures to give the American Football League a more sophisticated image.

Using his sweeping power, Foss completed a series of moves Wednesday that firmly established his iron rule and likely put an end to the controversial statements that have been made to the press by various AFL personnel in recent weeks.

As a matter of fact, when the phone rang in press headquarters following Foss' latest announcement, an official taking the call jokingly answered:

"AFL press headquarters. No comment."

While it may have been a joke in press headquarters, it certainly was no joke to K. S. (Bud) Adams Jr., the Houston owner who always seems to have a Texas-sized announcement for the press.

Foss took the first step toward establishing the new image concept when he firmly denied his rumored removal. Then he withheld approval of the controversial trade. He then called Boston linebacker Nick Buoniconti on the carpet for statements he said were detrimental to the league, and, finally, Foss turned thumbs down on the Ladd-Faison deal.

Foss, in announcing the decision to void the trade, after personally investigating the various allegations, said he "concluded that statements of owner K. S. Adams published prior to the trade constitute tampering with players Ladd and Faison under the provisions of our constitution.

"The evidence is conclusive the players knew of the published statements of Mr. Adams and one of them, Ernie Ladd, was quoted as saying: 'If a man (Adams) is willing to give up four players, he must be willing to give up a lot of money.'

"The obvious effect of Mr. Adams' statement was, therefore, interference with the ability of San Diego to sign these players."

Foss statement said there was no evidence the players were contacted by Houston and emphasized that the statements by Adams were enough to constitute tampering.

Foss also took San Diego Coach and General Manager Sid Gillman to task for his comments, saying it was Gillman's "duty to file a protest of tampering. But he compounded the wrong by trading the players to the offending club and then announcing he had no bargaining position.

"I am instructing him (Gillman) to confine all future complaints involving league matters to official communications to the commissioner."

How successfully Foss had made his position understood in the matter of statements to the press was made clear only minutes after he had handed down his decision when the parties involved were asked for comments on the disposition of the case.

Both Adams and the new Houston general manager, Don Klosterman, said:

"We have no further comment to make on the situation."

Killman said:

"I accept Commissioner Foss' decision and hope Ernie and Earl will be playing for the Chargers in 1966."

Ladd and Faison now will return to San Diego while Houston retains linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive end Gary Cutsinger and defensive back Pete Jaquess. Ladd and Faison, who had previously announced they were playing out their options, remain under contracts to the Chargers at least until May 1.

There is nothing stopping any team in the league — including Houston — from starting trade talks with San Diego with a view toward acquiring either Ladd or Faison or both.

While the Ladd-Faison controversy overshadowed the other things accomplished at the AFL annual meeting, these five major items of business were concluded:

1. The new Miami Dolphins selected 32 veteran players in the expansion draft and wound up with 20 players, plus a veteran quarterback in Dick Wood, who had been starters at least part of the 1965 season.

2. The league voted o expand by two additional teams for the 1967 season with Portland, Ore.; Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif.; Chicago; Milwaukee; Cincinnati; Philadelphia; Washington, D.C., and New Orleans, La., listed as franchise candidates.

3. The league established a central scouting system to be operated by the league office.

4. The league approved the raising of the goal uprights 10 feet in an attempt to make it easier to judge field goals and conversions.

5. The league approved the use of a sixth official for its games.

St. John's Upsets No. 3 Team

Bearcats Top Braves Decisively

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. John's University Redmen of New York appear certain to be invited to defend their NIT championship in college basketball when tournament time arrives in March.

The Redmen, improving with each start, whipped the third-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia 82-72 Wednesday night. They now have won four in a row for an over-all 10-3 mark.

Bradley, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, also was a casualty in Wednesday night's action. Playing on the road, the Braves absorbed an 85-69 thumping from the Cincinnati Bearcats.

In other games, Louisville whacked Dayton 94-77, Detroit defeated Villanova 101-94 and Los Angeles Loyola handed Notre Dame its 10th straight defeat 96-86.

A sellout 6,128 at Alumni Hall on the St. John's campus saw the Redmen, behind 34-32 at halftime, pull away in the second half to win decisively.

It was St. John's 13th straight victory on their home court and St. Joseph's third defeat of the season, all suffered on the road. The Hawks have won 12.

A 13-point burst after Mike Rolf's tipin had put them ahead at 19-18 sewed up Cincinnati's romp over Bradley. Don Rolfes' 21 points and John Howard's 20 paced the Bearcats as they kept on the heels of first-place Tulsa in the Missouri Valley Conference.

A hometown turnout of 11,264 cheered as Louisville whacked Dayton behind 24 points by Fred Holden and 3 by Joe Leidtke. Don May, Dayton soph, pitched in 33 points for a losing cause.

The Redskins of Miami of Ohio tightened their hold on first place in the Mid-American Conference by whipping Western Michigan 88-70 at Oxford, Ohio. In other home-court triumphs Harvard defeated Dartmouth 74-70 in an Ivy League tussle and Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 89-56.

Had Lifetime Batting Mark Of .344

Ted Williams Enters Hall Of Fame

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, latest of baseball's .400 hitters and one of the most feared sluggers in the history of the game, was named today to baseball's Hall of Fame.

The former Boston Red Sox outfielder, 47, was elected to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in his first year of eligibility. He was the only choice.

His election by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, including many with whom he had feuded during a tempestuous, colorful career, was announced by Hy Hurwitz, association secretary-treasurer, at a news conference.

Williams dominated the balloting in which 71 players were eligible, including 41 former major league players listed for the first time after spending the required minimum of five years in retirement.

Despite two hitches of duty as a Marine Corps flyer in World War II and the Korean War, Williams played 19 seasons for the Red Sox. He belted 521 homers, ranking behind only Babe Ruth (714) and Jimmy Foxx (534), and compiled a lifetime batting mark of .344, placing him tied for ninth among baseball's all-time great hitters.

Williams was elected by a record vote. He received 282 votes out of a possible 302 for a 93.3 per cent. Seventy-five per cent, or 226 votes were required for election.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A bulky field of 137 pros, each with an amateur partner, opened fire today in the silver anniversary edition of Bing Crosby's golf tournament, an event started for fun which now will reward the low scorers with $104,500.

Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner of 1965 with $140,752.14 in official money, makes his 1966 debut here. His final practice rounds were disappointing as he shot only a 74 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course on Wednesday.

He toured the layout with Arnold Palmer and lost to him by four in the warm-up over the course with a par 71.

Palmer snapped out of his slump to win the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago and could also snap the slump which has left the Crosby one of the major titles to elude him.

Still, if there can be a favorite here, it should be Billy Casper, holder of the tournament record for 72 holes with a 277 in 1958 and also winner in 1963 with a 285.

Casper is fresh off a victory last Sunday in the San Diego Open when he shot a closing seven-under-par 64 in cold, windy weather, reminiscent of many days in past Crosby tournaments.

Nicklaus won the 1961 United States amateur title at Pebble Beach, placed second to Casper in Crosby's 1963 event and tied for third last year when Bruce Crampton of Australia became the only foreigner ever to win the Crosby when he posted a 284.

Most of the big names, including Palmer, Nicklaus and Casper, toured the Cypress Point course today. On Friday, they'll try Club and then come to Pebble Beach for the national telecast on Saturday.

The leading 50 pro-am teams and the pros still in the money play the final 18 at Pebble Beach on Sunday.

Another Tech Aide Named To WV Staff

He is Jack C. Fligg, head freshman football coach at Tech for the past two years. Carlen appointed him Wednesday as offensive line coach for the Mountaineers.

Fligg, 34, coached 11 years in Atlanta high schools before joining the Georgia Tech staff. He played college football at Auburn and was graduated from Oglethorpe University, Atlanta, in 1954.

Pitcher Don Schwall Signs Pirate Contract

The 27-year-old righthander appeared in 43 games last year, winning 9 and losing 6. He had a 2.92 earned run average and saved four other games.

Only 2 Cagers Average Over 30 Per Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The individuals aren't doing as well but college basketball teams are scoring better than ever.

That was the puzzle presented by official statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The figures show only two players—Purdue's Dave Schellhase and Syracuse's Dave Bing—averaging more than 30 points per game. Schellhase, who finished fourth last season, leads with 32.6 and Bing is averaging 30.1. This is the first week in three years that so few players are over the 30-point plateau.

But team statistics present a different picture. Three clubs are averaging better than 97 points per game with Loyola of Chicago tops at 100.6 and Brigham Young (97.7) and Syracuse (97.1) dueling for the runner-up spot. Among full season figures, only Miami, Fla., with 98.4 last season, averaged more than the trio a tthe top right now.

Foss Voids Disputed AFL Trade In Get-Tough Action

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) —Commissioner Joe Foss, in voiding the disputed trade involving San Diego's Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, took the fourth and final step in a get-tough policy that figures to give the American Football League a more sophisticated image.

"AFL press headquarters. No comment."

While it may have been a joke in press headquarters, it certainly was no joke to K. S. (Bud) Adams Jr., the Houston owner who always seems to have a Texas-sized announcement for the press.

Foss took the first step toward establishing the new image concept when he firmly denied his rumored removal. Then he withheld approval of the controversial trade. He then called Boston linebacker Nick Buoniconti on the carpet for statements he said were detrimental to the league, and, finally, Foss turned thumbs down on the Ladd-Faison deal.

Foss, in announcing the decision to void the trade, after personally investigating the various allegations, said he "concluded that statements of owner K. S. Adams published prior to the trade constitute tampering with players Ladd and Faison under the provisions of our constitution.

"The evidence is conclusive the players knew of the published statements of Mr. Adams and one of them, Ernie Ladd, was quoted as saying: 'If a man (Adams) is willing to give up four players, he must be willing to give up a lot of money.'

"The obvious effect of Mr. Adams' statement was, therefore, interference with the ability of San Diego to sign these players."

Foss statement said there was no evidence the players were contacted by Houston and emphasized that the statements by Adams were enough to constitute tampering.

Foss also took San Diego Coach and General Manager Sid Gillman to task for his comments, saying it was Gillman's "duty to file a protest of tampering. But he compounded the wrong by trading the players to the offending club and then announcing he had no bargaining position.

"I am instructing him (Gillman) to confine all future complaints involving league matters to official communications to the commissioner."

How successfully Foss had made his position understood in the matter of statements to the press was made clear only minutes after he had handed down his decision when the parties involved were asked for comments on the disposition of the case.

Both Adams and the new Houston general manager, Don Klosterman, said:

"We have no further comment to make on the situation."

Killman said:

"I accept Commissioner Foss' decision and hope Ernie and Earl will be playing for the Chargers in 1966."

Ladd and Faison now will return to San Diego while Houston retains linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive end Gary Cutsinger and defensive back Pete Jaquess. Ladd and Faison, who had previously announced they were playing out their options, remain under contracts to the Chargers at least until May 1.

There is nothing stopping any team in the league — including Houston — from starting trade talks with San Diego with a view toward acquiring either Ladd or Faison or both.

While the Ladd-Faison controversy overshadowed the other things accomplished at the AFL annual meeting, these five major items of business were concluded:

1. The new Miami Dolphins selected 32 veteran players in the expansion draft and wound up with 20 players, plus a veteran quarterback in Dick Wood, who had been starters at least part of the 1965 season.

2. The league voted to expand by two additional teams for the 1967 season with Portland, Ore.; Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif.; Chicago; Milwaukee; Cincinnati; Philadelphia; Washington, D.C., and New Orleans, La., listed as franchise candidates.

3. The league established a central scouting system to be operated by the league office.

4. The league approved the raising of the goal uprights 10 feet in an attempt to make it easier to judge field goals and conversions.

5. The league approved the use of a sixth official for its games.

St. John's Upsets No. 3 Team

Bearcats Top Braves Decisively

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. John's University Redmen of New York appear certain to be invited to defend their NIT championship in college basketball when tournament time arrives in March.

The Redmen, improving with each start, whipped the third-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia 82-72 Wednesday night. They now have won four in a row for an over-all 10-3 mark.

Bradley, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, also was a casualty in Wednesday night's action. Playing on the road, the Braves absorbed an 85-69 thumping from the Cincinnati Bearcats.

In other games, Louisville whacked Dayton 94-77, Detroit defeated Villanova 101-94 and Los Angeles Loyola handed Notre Dame its 10th straight defeat 96-86.

A sellout 6,128 at Alumni Hall on the St. John's campus saw the Redmen, behind 34-32 at halftime, pull away in the second half to win decisively.

It was St. John's 13th straight victory on their home court and St. Joseph's third defeat of the season, all suffered on the road. The Hawks have won 12.

A 13-point burst after Mike Rolf's tipin had put them ahead at 19-18 sewed up Cincinnati's romp over Bradley. Don Rolfes' 21 points and John Howard's 20 paced the Bearcats as they kept on the heels of first-place Tulsa in the Missouri Valley Conference.

A hometown turnout of 11,264 cheered as Louisville whacked Dayton behind 24 points by Fred Holden and 3 by Joe Leidtke. Don May, Dayton soph, pitched in 33 points for a losing cause.

The Redskins of Miami of Ohio tightened their hold on first place in the Mid-American Conference by whipping Western Michigan 88-70 at Oxford, Ohio. In other home-court triumphs Harvard defeated Dartmouth 74-70 in an Ivy League tussle and Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 89-56.

Had Lifetime Batting Mark Of .344

Ted Williams Enters Hall Of Fame

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, latest of baseball's .400 hitters and one of the most feared sluggers in the history of the game, was named today to baseball's Hall of Fame.

The former Boston Red Sox outfielder, 47, was elected to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in his first year of eligibility. He was the only choice.

His election by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, including many with whom he had feuded during a tempestuous, colorful career, was announced by Hy Hurwitz, association secretary-treasurer, at a news conference.

Williams dominated the balloting in which 71 players were eligible, including 41 former major league players listed for the first time after spending the required minimum of five years in retirement.

Despite two hitches of duty as a Marine Corps flyer in World War II and the Korean War, Williams played 19 seasons for the Red Sox. He belted 521 homers, ranking behind only Babe Ruth (714) and Jimmy Foxx (534), and compiled a lifetime batting mark of .344, placing him tied for ninth among baseball's all-time great hitters.

Williams was elected by a record vote. He received 282 votes out of a possible 302 for a 93.3 per cent. Seventy-five per cent, or 226 votes were required for election.

Pitcher Don Schwall Signs Pirate Contract

The 27-year-old righthander appeared in 43 games last year, winning 9 and losing 6. He had a 2.92 earned run average and saved four other games.

Only 2 Cagers Average Over 30 Per Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The individuals aren't doing as well but college basketball teams are scoring better than ever.

That was the puzzle presented by official statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The figures show only two players—Purdue's Dave Schellhase and Syracuse's Dave Bing—averaging more than 30 points per game. Schellhase, who finished fourth last season, leads with 32.6 and Bing is averaging 30.1. This is the first week in three years that so few players are over the 30-point plateau.

But team statistics present a different picture. Three clubs are averaging better than 97 points per game with Loyola of Chicago tops at 100.6 and Brigham Young (97.7) and Syracuse (97.1) dueling for the runner-up spot. Among full season figures, only Miami, Fla., with 98.4 last season, averaged more than the trio a tthe top right now.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A bulky field of 137 pros, each with an amateur partner, opened fire today in the silver anniversary edition of Bing Crosby's golf tournament, an event started for fun which now will reward the low scorers with $104,500.

Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner of 1965 with $140,752.14 in official money, makes his 1966 debut here. His final practice rounds were disappointing as he shot only a 74 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course on Wednesday.

He toured the layout with Arnold Palmer and lost to him by four in the warm-up over the course with a par 71.

Palmer snapped out of his slump to win the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago and could also snap the slump which has left the Crosby one of the major titles to elude him.

Still, if there can be a favorite here, it should be Billy Casper, holder of the tournament record for 72 holes with a 277 in 1958 and also winner in 1963 with a 285.

Casper is fresh off a victory last Sunday in the San Diego Open when he shot a closing seven - under - par 64 in cold, windy weather, reminiscent of many days in past Crosby tournaments.

Nicklaus won the 1961 United States amateur title at Pebble Beach, placed second to Casper in Crosby's 1963 event and tied for third last year when Bruce Crampton of Australia became the only foreigner ever to win the Crosby when he posted a 284.

Most of the big names, including Palmer, Nicklaus and Casper, toured the Cypress Point course today. On Friday, they'll play Monterey Peninsula Country Club and then come to Pebble Beach for the national telecast on Saturday.

The leading 50 pro-am teams and the pros still in the money play the final 18 at Pebble Beach on Sunday.

Another Tech Aide Named To WV Staff

He is Jack C. Fligg, head freshman football coach at Tech for the past two years. Carlen appointed him Wednesday as offensive line coach for the Mountaineers.

Fligg, 34, coached 11 years in Atlanta high schools before joining the Georgia Tech staff. He played college football at Auburn and was graduated from Oglethorpe University, Atlanta, in 1954.

Aparicio Signs To End His Brief Retirement

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Aparicio, Baltimore's veteran shortstop, returned his signed 1966 contract Wednesday about three months after he announced his retirement.

At the same time, Amaro, traded to the New York Yankees from Philadelphia in November, explained why he is spending a winter without baseball.

After returning to his home in Venezuela last October, the 31-year-old Aparicio said he was quitting, adding: "I'm going to devote my time to teaching young players." He also said he wanted to set up a sporting goods business and look after the education of his four children.

His 1966 contract calls for an estimated $32,000, a cut of about $2,000.

The shortstop's short - lived retirement came after he batted only .225 and failed to win the American League base-stealing crown for the first time in 10 years.

Amaro wanted to play with the Obiegon team of Sonora because he felt he hadn't played enough with the Phillies last year. The 30-year-old shortstop even was willing to accept a low salary.

Mexican rules dictate that a major league player must be paid at the same rate as in the United States.

"That did it," Amaro explained. "My team couldn't possibly pay me by league rules. The team's entire budget for the season was 72,000 pesos, or approximately $6,000. So I didn't play winter ball in my own country."

Among other players signing contracts Wednesday were catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees, third baseman Pete Ward of the Chicago White Sox and pitcher Roy Face of Pittsburgh.

Bears Voted As Comeback Team Of '66

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears, who rallied from three straight losses at the season's start to win nine of their next 10 games in the hotly competitive National Football League, made the outstanding comeback in sports in 1965.

Seventy-six of the 299 sports writers and sportscasters participating in The Associated Press Comeback - of - the - Year poll listed the Bears as their No. 1 choice.

On a basis of three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third, the Bears collected 420 points. Vernon Law, Pittsburgh's right-handed pitcher, was second with 73 first-place votes and 348 points.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, baseball's World Series winners, were third with 336 points, followed by Frank Howard, Washington's slugging outfielder, 135 points.

The Bears, led by Gayle Sayers, their brilliant rookie halfback, and quarterback Rudy Bukich, finished third in the NFL's Western Conference with a 9-5 record last season. They lost to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Green Bay in their first three games, then won nine of their next 10 before bowing to the Minnesota Vikings in their season finale.

In 1963, the Bears captured the Western Conference crown with an 11-1 record and defeated the New York Giants 14-10 in the championship playoff. The following year, though, they dropped to sixth place, winning only five and losing nine games.

Russell Fills Red's Job In Celtic Romp

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's big Bill Russell insists he isn't interested in coaching, but he does a pretty good job every time he's forced to fill in for boss Red Auerbach.

Russell was drafted as coach again after Auerbach was ejected Wednesday night and led the Celtics to a 129-89 romp over the Baltimore Bullets in a National Basketball Association doubleheader. Philadelphia rolled over Detroit 110-93 in the opener.

Boston's sixth straight victory over Baltimore enabled the Celtics to hike their slim lead over idle Cincinnati to nine points. A showdown for the Eastern Division lead is set for Boston Garden Friday night.

Auerbach drew two technical fouls and was ejected for arguing a call at 5:15 of the opening period. Then Russell, a $100,001-a-year veteran often mentioned as Auerbach's successor, took command.

Trailing 13-12, the Celtics held the Bullets scoreless from the floor for the next six minutes in storming to a 23-15 lead. The advantage was raised to 58-39 at halftime and Boston breezed the rest of the way to its 16th victory in 18 home starts.

Britain's Threatened By Feb. 14 Rail Tieup

Leaders of the Railwaymen's Union voted Wednesday night to call the strike after a government board said demands for more pay and shorter hours were unjustified. The union's 300,000 members are expected to approve the strike.

The railwaymen got a 3½ per cent pay increase last October and are to get another 3½ per cent this October, with their work week reduced from 42 hours to 40. They are demanding the raise and shorter work week immediately as well as a third week of paid annual vacation.

Pay rates now range from $30.52 a week for porters to $47.46 for top-grade drivers and signalmen.

RAVENNA, OHIO (AP) — A 21-year-old Warren man was killed Wednesday in a three-car collision on Ohio 5 about 16 miles east of here. The victim, Ronald L. Gilmore, was a passenger in a car driven by Roland L. Root, 21, also of Warren, who was injured.

Geneva Wins On Mattia's Late Fielder

By The Associated Press

Dominick Mattia sank a field goal with three seconds of overtime remaining Wednesday night to give Geneva a 64-63 basketball victory over Grove City.

The victory gave Geneva the lead in the West Penn Conference with a 4-2 record. Grove City is now 3-3.

In other games involving Western Pennsylvania College teams, Fairmont edged California 71-68 and Cleveland State of Ohio trounced Allegheny 110-73.

California trailed most of its home game, but pulled to a 67-66 deficit with 41 seconds remaining. Then a field goal and two fouls by Dave Shaffer and Sam Skeen put the game out of reach. Shaffer was high scorer for Fairmont with 21, Pat Hobart had 21 for California.

Three Cleveland State starters accounted for 72 points in the runaway victory at Meadville. Dave Werner scored 25, Dennis Lenk had 24 and Leo Johnson 23. Cleveland is now 2-8. Allegheny is 1-4.

Philadelphia Eyes Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After seven weeks of controversy over its open, rectangular design for a new, all-purpose sports stadium, Philadelphia has decided to start from scratch on a brand new plan, including an all-weather dome.

City Managing Director Fred T. Corleto, after a 2½ hour meeting Wednesday, said the Philadelphia Eagles pro football team and the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team have agreed to accept a final stadium design to be created by an independent architect of national stature.

The Phillies' refusal to sign a lease for the new stadium because of objections to the original design had precipitated the crisis that led to the decision for complete redesigning.

Corleto said that under Wednesday's agreement, the final decisions of the architect would be binding on both the Phillies and the Eagles.

Corleto said the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects would meet on Friday to make that selection.

Family Will Get Part Of $21,000

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga Falls family that found more than $21,000 under a closet floor in their home two years ago is going to get a chance to keep some of the money.

Mrs. Harriet K. Morris, a divorcee, turned the money over to police after her son, David, 18, found the money in the home they were renting.

Mrs. Morris' attorney said Wednesday an out-of-court settlement is being worked out with the other leading claimant that will bring her "a considerable amount."

The other claimant is the estate of the late Joseph Calcagno, who owned the house before it was purchased by its present owner, Thomas Lo Cascio, a third claimant.

Strampe Leads; Johnson's '300' Takes Spotlight

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Bob Strampe jumped to a 71-point lead with a five-game total of 1215 in Wednesday's opening preliminary round of the $100,000 National All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The slender Detroiter, who won the All-Star crown in 1964, averaged 243 for his first of three five - game qualifying blocks with games of 212, 237, 249, 260 and 257.

Aparicio Signs To End His Brief Retirement

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luis Aparicio has ended his voluntary retirement, but Ruben Amaro still awaits the end of his forced vacation.

Aparicio, Baltimore's veteran shortstop, returned his signed 1966 contract Wednesday about three months after he announced his retirement.

At the same time, Amaro, traded to the New York Yankees from Philadelphia in November, explained why he is spending a winter without baseball.

After returning to his home in Venezuela last October, the 31-year-old Aparicio said he was quitting, adding: "I'm going to devote my time to teaching young players." He also said he wanted to set up a sporting goods business and look after the education of his four children.

His 1966 contract calls for an estimated $32,000, a cut of about $2,000.

The shortstop's short - lived retirement came after he batted only .225 and failed to win the American League base-stealing crown for the first time in 10 years.

But while Aparicio has been improving his batting eye in the Venezuelan winter league, Amaro has been unable to help his in the Mexican league.

Amaro wanted to play with the Obiegon team of Sonora because he felt he hadn't played enough with the Phillies last year. The 30-year-old shortstop even was willing to accept a low salary.

Mexican rules dictate that a major league player must be paid at the same rate as in the United States.

"That did it," Amaro explained. "My team couldn't possibly pay me by league rules. The team's entire budget for the season was 72,000 pesos, or approximately $6,000. So I didn't play winter ball in my own country."

Among other players signing contracts Wednesday were catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees, third baseman Pete Ward of the Chicago White Sox and pitcher Roy Face of Pittsburgh.

Bears Voted As Comeback Team Of '66

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears, who rallied from three straight losses at the season's start to win nine of their next 10 games in the hotly competitive National Football League, made the outstanding comeback in sports in 1965.

Seventy-six of the 299 sports writers and sportscasters participating in The Associated Press Comeback - of - the - Year poll listed the Bears as their No. 1 choice.

On a basis of three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third, the Bears collected 420 points. Vernon Law, Pittsburgh's right-handed pitcher, was second with 73 first-place votes and 348 points.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, baseball's World Series winners, were third with 336 points, followed by Frank Howard, Washington's slugging outfielder, 135 points.

The Bears, led by Gayle Sayers, their brilliant rookie halfback, and quarterback Rudy Bukich, finished third in the NFL's Western Conference with a 9-5 record last season. They lost to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Green Bay in their first three games, then won nine of their next 10 before bowing to the Minnesota Vikings in their season finale.

In 1963, the Bears captured the Western Conference crown with an 11-1 record and defeated the New York Giants 14-10 in the championship playoff. The following year, though, they dropped to sixth place, winning only five and losing nine games.

Russell Fills Red's Job In Celtic Romp

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's big Bill Russell insists he isn't interested in coaching, but he does a pretty good job every time he's forced to fill in for boss Red Auerbach.

Russell was drafted as coach again after Auerbach was ejected Wednesday night and led the Celtics to a 129-89 romp over the Baltimore Bullets in a National Basketball Association doubleheader. Philadelphia rolled over Detroit 110-93 in the opener.

Boston's sixth straight victory over Baltimore enabled the Celtics to hike their slim lead over idle Cincinnati to nine points. A showdown for the Eastern Division lead is set for Boston Garden Friday night.

Auerbach drew two technical fouls and was ejected for arguing a call at 5:15 of the opening period. Then Russell, a $100,001-a-year veteran often mentioned as Auerbach's successor, took command.

Trailing 13-12, the Celtics held the Bullets scoreless from the floor for the next six minutes in storming to a 23-15 lead. The advantage was raised to 58-39 at halftime and Boston breezed the rest of the way to its 16th victory in 18 home starts.

Geneva Wins On Mattia's Late Fielder

By The Associated Press

Dominick Mattia sank a field goal with three seconds of overtime remaining Wednesday night to give Geneva a 64-63 basketball victory over Grove City.

The victory gave Geneva the lead in the West Penn Conference with a 4-2 record. Grove City is now 3-3.

In other games involving Western Pennsylvania College teams, Fairmont edged California 71-68 and Cleveland State of Ohio trounced Allegheny 110-73.

California trailed most of its home game, but pulled to a 67-66 deficit with 41 seconds remaining. Then a field goal and two fouls by Dave Shaffer and Sam Skeen put the game out of reach. Shaffer was high scorer for Fairmont with 21, Pat Hobart had 21 for California.

Three Cleveland State starters accounted for 72 points in the runaway victory at Meadville. Dave Werner scored 25, Dennis Lenk had 24 and Leo Johnson 23. Cleveland is now 2-8. Allegheny is 1-4.

Britain's Threatened By Feb. 14 Rail Tieup

Leaders of the Railwaymen's Union voted Wednesday night to call the strike after a government board said demands for more pay and shorter hours were unjustified. The union's 300,000 members are expected to approve the strike.

The railwaymen got a 3½ per cent pay increase last October and are to get another 3½ per cent this October, with their work week reduced from 42 hours to 40. They are demanding the raise and shorter work week immediately as well as a third week of paid annual vacation.

Pay rates now range from $30.52 a week for porters to $47.46 for top-grade drivers and signalmen.

Killed In Collision

RAVENNA, OHIO (AP) — A 21-year-old Warren man was killed Wednesday in a three-car collision on Ohio 5 about 16 miles east of here. The victim, Ronald L. Gilmore, was a passenger in a car driven by Roland L. Root, 21, also of Warren, who was injured.

Philadelphia Eyes Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After seven weeks of controversy over its open, rectangular design for a new, all-purpose sports stadium, Philadelphia has decided to start from scratch on a brand new plan, including an all-weather dome.

City Managing Director Fred T. Corleto, after a 2½ hour meeting Wednesday, said the Philadelphia Eagles pro football team and the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team—have agreed to accept a final stadium design to be created by an independent architect of national stature.

The Phillies' refusal to sign a lease for the new stadium because of objections to the original design had precipitated the crisis that led to the decision for complete redesigning.

Corleto said that under Wednesday's agreement, the final decisions of the architect would be binding on both the Phillies and the Eagles.

Corleto said the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects would meet on Friday to make that selection.

Strampe Leads: Johnson's '300' Takes Spotlight

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Bob Strampe jumped to a 71-point lead with a five-game total of 1215 in Wednesday's opening preliminary round of the $100,000 National All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The slender Detroiter, who won the All-Star crown in 1964, averaged 243 for his first of three five - game qualifying blocks with games of 212, 237, 249, 260 and 257.

But the spotlight did not belong to Strampe alone.

Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind. put together 12 consecutive strikes for a perfect 300 game. It was Johnson's fourth sanctioned 300 game and the 17th in the 25-year history of the tournament.

A 25 - year - old professional, Johnson had a 1033 total and 82nd place in the field of 432.

Stengel To Get Award For Baseball Service

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Casey Stengel will receive the Walter Judge Award for meritorious service to baseball at the Feb. 13 banquet of the San Francisco chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

The chapter said Wednesday that the now retired 75-year-old Stengel would come here from Southern California to receive the award, named for a late San Francisco baseball writer.

Family Will Get Part Of $21,000

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga Falls family that found more than $21,000 under a closet floor in their home two years ago is going to get a chance to keep some of the money.

Mrs. Harriet K. Morris, a divorcee, turned the money over to police after her son, David, 18, found the money in the home they were renting.

Mrs. Morris' attorney said Wednesday an out-of-court settlement is being worked out with the other leading claimant that will bring her "a considerable amount."

The other claimant is the estate of the late Joseph Calcagno, who owned the house before it was purchased by its present owner, Thomas Lo Cascio, a third claimant.

Man Collapses, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — An 81-year-old man collapsed and died while sweeping snow from the driveway at his East Side home Wednesday. Police said the victim, Stephen J. Spisak, apparently suffered a heart attack.

When the raised bed snagged the cable between two poles, about six miles west of Beaver Falls, it pulled down the four poles and wires, officers said.

Court Orders Man's Arrest On 2 Charges

East Liverpool Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Wednesday ordered forfeiture of two appearance bonds totaling $165 posted by a cited Midland motorist, then ordered East Liverpool police and the State Highway Patrol to take him into custody if he is ever found in Ohio and hale him before the court on the two charges.

The defendant is Edward L. King of 740 Penn Ave., Midland, arrested Monday at 12:30 p.m. after his auto allegedly went left of center and hit a guard rail on State Route 170 in the Calcutta area.

The patrol charged King with reckless operation and driving an auto after his operator's permit was suspended in Ohio. The patrol alleged that King, a former East Liverpool resident, moved to Midland and obtained a Pennsylvania driver's license after his Ohio permit was suspended by Judge Chertoff.

King posted $57.50 on the reckless driving charge and $107.50 on the license charge. In forfeiting the bonds, the court pointed out they were only to guarantee the driver's appearance and he still must face the judge on the two charges.

"I realize this man is a Pennsylvania resident, but he formerly resided in East Liverpool," the judge said in issuing the capias and alerting local police and the patrol.

"Anyone who operates an auto after his permit is suspended should answer to the court," the judge said.

They are Robert Leggett, Ed Kauffman and Allen Dickey. They succeed Adam Rudibaugh, William Haifley and Robert McNally. Chairman of the nominating committee was Ray Beers.

The 'Singalong' Revival

Mitch Miller and his "Singalong" fans soon may have cause for shouting.

NBC is thinking seriously of running repeats of the show on Friday nights next summer, also of having Miller produce one new edition which embodies ideas he has for reviving the series.

Richard Doan

If an updated version clicks with viewers, the network might give the bearded maestro a chance to conduct a new round of "Singalongs" beginning next midseason, a year from now.

-:-

NOTHING, it's understood, is definite yet, but reports are that NBC is considering the "Singalong" revival as summer replacement either for Sammy Davis Jr.'s new variety hour or the early evening "Camp Runamuck" and "Hank" series.

Mitch Miller owns the "Singalong" shows.

It is debatable who was more vociferous, Miller or his legion of rooters, when NBC dropped the series at close of the 1963-64 season. It was started following its overnight click as a one-shot in 1960. The network felt it ran its course.

In fact, the network, very quietly, has ordered up a pilot to be filmed in Hollywood for a proposed show called just that, "The Big Money."

The "contestants" would not be pitted against one another, but would win bags of money for demonstrating certain personal skills.

Whether the show gets a favorable nod will depend on how it plays in the test run. It would be scheduled as an evening series beginning next September.

The last big giveaway attempted by a network was ABC's "100 Grand," introduced in September 1962. It lasted three weeks.

"I SPY," which blazed a couple of trails for TV this season, has made the grade with NBC and will blaze still another trail in the months ahead.

Executive producer Sheldon Leonard successfully has demonstrated (1) that it is practical to shoot a weekly TV adventure series in actual on-location foreign locales and (2) that a Negro and a white man can be pictured in close companionship as co-stars of a TV drama.

During its first season, sequences for "I Spy" will have been filmed in Hong Kong for 9 episodes, in Japan for 9 and in Mexico for 10.

Adventures of Robert Culp and Bill Cosby as espionage agents will take them next season to such locales as Las Vegas, Palm Springs, San Francisco and Carmel, Calif., and then to Europe and North Africa.

The co-stars and a production crew will be in Italy for five weeks, then move on to such places as Spain, the Greek Islands, and North Africa.

GENE BARRY wound up his days on ABC as "Amos Burke, Secret Agent" last week, but he will be back April 9 — as guest host on ABC's "Hollywood Palace" show.

Three Are Hurt By Accidents In Hancock County

Three persons, including an East Liverpool man and a Hookstown area woman, were injured in separate accidents Wednesday night and today in Hancock County.

Roger Edwards of 136 W. 3rd St. was treated at City Hospital for a possible neck injury in a mishap Wednesday night at Newell.

Edwards told hospital officials he had to stop suddenly and his auto was rammed from the rear. The sheriff's office said it had no information on the accident.

Mrs. Millie Steele of Hookstown R. D. 1 was treated at the hospital at 7:05 p. m. for bruises suffered in a collision on Taylor's Bend near Chester.

Mrs. Steele was taken to the hospital by ambulance after her 1965 station wagon was hit by a 1965 sedan operated by Alphonso Chesnos, 46, of Pittsburgh.

Stella Nicholas of Weirton was admitted to Weirton General Hospital with injuries suffered in a one-car mishap on Route 66 about 7 a. m. today. She is in "good" condition.

Deputies said she lost control of her 1965 auto on the icy highway and the car rolled on its side into a ditch. Damage was estimated at approximately $500.

Educator Claimed

Randolph, Slack Of West Virginia Seek Re-Election

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., planned to file with the secretary of state this afternoon as a candidate for renomination in the May 10 primary.

Randolph and Rep. John M. Slack Jr. of Charleston, another Democrat, announced Wednesday that they would run for re-election.

Randolph, 63, of Elkins, was elected to the Senate in 1958 to fill an unexpired term and was re-elected in 1960. Earlier, he served seven terms in the House. Slack, 50, was first elected in 1958 to represent West Virginia's 3rd Congressional District.

In a statement, Randolph praised the work of the 89th Congress and said he supports "all endeavors for an honorable peace in Viet Nam."

Slack said he would campaign only on the issues this year, and said the issues are plentiful.

State Sen. V. K. Knapp, a Hurricane Republican, filed for renomination in the 4th Senatorial District Wednesday. He is seeking his second term.

Damage Set At $900 In Fire At Wellsville

Fire of undetermined origin caused $900 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Halfhill of 813 Commerce St., Wellsville, Wednesday at 1:10 p. m.

Firemen said the blaze was discovered by a passerby, Dudley Havelock, a former volunteer fireman.

Halfhill was at work at the time and Mrs. Halfhill had gone to a store. While returning home, she stopped at a neighbor's for a visit.

Havelock ran into the adjoining home to telephone firemen. It turned out to be the home where Mrs. Halfhill was visiting.

Firemen said the blaze was in the corner of an upstairs bedroom. Damage was estimated at $500 to the building and $400 to the contents.

Elderly Blind Woman Dies In W. Va. Blaze

By The Associated Press

Fires in West Virginia have killed two persons — one an elderly blind woman who died in the hallway of a Charleston apartment building.

Firemen said Mrs. Margie Penn, 89, apparently was overcome by smoke and fumes as she groped her way toward a rear door. No other residents were hurt Wednesday in the blaze, but two firemen suffered minor burns.

James Kincaid, 45, died Wednesday in a fire at his house trailer at Lanark, about four miles north of Beckley. Firemen said the blaze began when Kincaid tried to thaw frozen water pipes with a blowtorch.

Proposes Feb. 1 As Date

Johnson Invites India's New Leader To Visit Him

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Johnson today invited India's new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, to visit him in Washington soon to discuss the "many momentous problems we both face."

Johnson invited Mrs. Gandhi to keep the Feb. 1 date her predecessor, the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, had for a visit to the United States.

Johnson added: "I also recognize that your new burdens of office may make this difficult and if you are unable to come then I hope that we can reschedule your visit for an early date so that we can discuss the many momentous problems we both face."

Johnson's letter was delivered by U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles during a 25-minute call on Mrs. Gandhi. He also delivered a letter from Vice President Hubert Humphrey which said the American people "rejoice in the election of the new leader of India."

Shastri had been scheduled to visit the United States to discuss American economic aid to India, cut off during the India-Pakistan war in September, and the whole range of U.S.-Indian relations. Mrs. Gandhi indicated Wednesday she is willing to visit Washington, saying the matter was up to President Johnson.

However, she is likely to be preoccupied for the time being with problems at home. India's opposition parties indicated today that she will come under heavy attack soon.

Despite her Congress Party's overwhelming majority in Parliament, a serious political attack would greatly complicate her task of seeking solutions for India's immense economic and foreign policy problems.

Of all the opposition groups, only the pro-Moscow Communists published the customary congratulations on Mrs. Gandhi's election Wednesday to succeed Shastri.

Other political factions were openly bitter that the governing Congress party had given the nod to Jawaharlal Nehru's 48-year-old daughter.

Socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia declared: "We will have a pretty face for a time and she will be burdened with the weight of her father's and Mr. Shastri's misdeeds. To that we can safely add the burden of her own misdeeds."

Backed by party king makers, Mrs. Gandhi defeated rightist Morarji Desai 350-169 when Congress party members of Parliament elected a new majority leader. She was automatically asked to form a new government.

Much of the opposition's fire was directed at Shastri's last foreign policy move — and Mrs. Gandhi's promise to defend that move.

This is the Tashkent declaration Shastri signed Jan. 10, the day before he died, with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. They pledged to seek a peaceful solution to the differences which have taken their two countries to war twice since 1947.

In her first news conference after her election, she said she would continue the policies of nonalignment and socialism her father established for India.

"Mr. Shastri was continuing the basic policies of my father and the accepted policies of the Congress party," she said. "I cannot naturally deviate from the policies which have been passed by our party."

Mrs. Gandhi said she favors President Johnson's Viet Nam peace offensive since she supports any move for peace anywhere.

Truman 'Peace Center' Plan Bared By Johnson

Establishment of the Harry S Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace was announced Wednesday by President Johnson, who will be on hand for the ceremony.

The center will be a multimillion-dollar structure, financed privately, on the campus of the Hebrew University Jerusalem — a city holy to three of the world's major faiths. The university donated the grounds.

Purpose of the center will be to use all scientific and humane means leading to the isolation and destruction of the causes of war. It will also make an annual $50,000 Harry S. Truman Award for Peace.

David Noyes, a long-time friend of the former president, quietly headed the funds campaign. He said 37 founders already have contributed $100,000 each.

President Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Samuel Rothberg, board chairman of American Friends of the Hebrew University, speak at the inaugural ceremonies. Truman was to make a response.

Ranking officials and representatives of foreign governments also were expected.

The trip is the fourth Johnson has made to Truman's home grounds since he became President. Johnson signed the medicare bill in the library auditorium last July 30; he stopped overnight June 24 last year to have breakfast with Truman en route to the 20th anniversary celebration of the United Nations in San Francisco; and he interrupted his election campaign Oct. 21, 1964, to visit for 25 minutes with the ex-president who was in a hospital recovering from a fall.

Johnson also made four trips as vice president to visit Truman, one of them to help celebrate the former presideent's 78th birthday. Truman will be 82 on May 8.

The White House announcement said the center will be an interfaith, interracial institution, not identified with any country. It will include the establishment of 12 permanent chairs for the pursuit of peace.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is a night I will never forget," said Enrique Negron, 56, a Puerto Rican. "I shall always remember this night as one that shows people care."

Negron had just been presented a $250 check by policemen and proclaimed a hero for the second time in eight months.

Last May he aided a white policeman under attack by a mob of Negroes. But his friends took a dim view of the act. They boycotted his grocery store and forced him out of business, he said.

When his plight became known, Negron was honored again with job offers and a dinner Wednesday night by the Police Reserve Association.

A Supreme Court justice ruled Wednesday that the right of a producer to final cutting and editing is limited to the original or theatrical production and not to television showings.

But Justice Arthur G. Klein said the right to interrupt motion picture showings on television for commercials and to make "minor deletions" to fit the time requirements has been considered a "normal and essential part of the exhibition of motion pictures on television."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Renoir, screenwriter - director and son of impressionist painter Pierre Auguste Renoir, is out of the hospital after undergoing tests and treatment for a kidney infection. He entered the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last Thursday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men closely associated with President John F. Kennedy are in line for new jobs. Both have written best sellers about the Kennedy administration.

They are Theodore C. Sorensen, former special counsel to Kennedy, and historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., a Kennedy adviser.

Sorensen, who wrote the book "Kennedy," has accepted a position with the New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison.

'No Danger,' Navy Says As Missile Fell

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— The Navy says there was never any danger when a surface-to-air nuclear missile fell "several feet" while being handled above the deck of the USS Luce.

"I feel as safe around one of these, if dropped, as around a five-inch bullet," said the commanding officer of the Luce, Capt. Dixon Lademen.

Nevertheless, plenty of people were jittery.

The news of "a nuclear incident" was broadcast just as demolition crews, under police escort, rushed to remove the missile Wednesday. Switchboards were flooded. Sections of the Mayport Naval Air Station were sealed off.

"We took routine safety precautions because when you don't know what the danger is, you always go to extremes," said the base commander, Capt. J. S. Swope.

The device was so constructed that an explosion would have been impossible, Swope said. There was a dent near the forward portion.

But the Luce, a guided-missile frigate berthed near other ships at the mouth of the St. Johns River in northeast Florida, quickly moved to another dock.

Guided - missile frigates are equipped to carry 40 Terrier missiles. The weapons, 27 feet long and with a booster, are fired at supersonic speeds to a range of 10 nautical miles. They weigh 1½ tons.

Science Fair Set At West Liberty College In April

The eighth annual regional science fair has been scheduled for April 22 and 23 at West Liberty State College, according to Robert W. Schramm, president of the Ohio Valley Science Fairs, Inc., and professor of mathematics and physics at West Liberty.

The West Liberty Fair, an affiliate of International Science Fair, again will offer an expense - paid trip to the International Science Fair to the grand prize winner in the senior division.

Schramm pointed out other valuable prizes will be awarded in both the senior and junior divisions and that a special prize will be given the grand winner in the junior classification.

All students in grades 7 through 12 who are enrolled in any public, private or parochial school in Hancock, Ohio, Marshall, Brooke and Wetzel counties in West Virginia and Belmont and Jefferson counties in Ohio are eligible to participate.

Schramm explained that Ohio students may enter their exhibits in the West Liberty Fair or the Greater Ohio Science Fair, but not in both during the same year.

Exhibits will be classified as biology, chemistry, earth sciences, engineering, mathematics and physics. Students in grade 7-9 will comprise the junior division and those in grades 10-12 the senior division.

Out Of The Air

The 'Singalong' Revival

Mitch Miller and his "Singalong" fans soon may have cause for shouting.

NBC is thinking seriously of running repeats of the show on Friday nights next summer, also of having Miller produce one new edition which embodies ideas he has for reviving the series.

Richard Doan

If an updated version clicks with viewers, the network might give the bearded maestro a chance to conduct a new round of "Singalongs" beginning next midseason, a year from now.

-:-

NOTHING, it's understood, is definite yet, but reports are that NBC is considering the "Singalong" revival as summer replacement either for Sammy Davis Jr.'s new variety hour or the early evening "Camp Runamuck" and "Hank" series.

Mitch Miller owns the "Singalong" shows.

It is debatable who was more vociferous, Miller or his legion of rooters, when NBC dropped the series at close of the 1963-64 season. It was started following its overnight click as a one-shot in 1960. The network felt it ran its course.

Last month NBC revived Miller's oft-repeated Christmas "Singalong" for another Yuletide showing.

In fact, the network, very quietly, has ordered up a pilot to be filmed in Hollywood for a proposed show called just that, "The Big Money."

Details of the format are quite hush-hush, but a reliable source described it as giving participants a chance to walk away with large sums of money.

The "contestants" would not be pitted against one another, but would win bags of money for demonstrating certain personal skills.

Whether the show gets a favorable nod will depend on how it plays in the test run. It would be scheduled as an evening series beginning next September.

The last big giveaway attempted by a network was ABC's "100 Grand," introduced in September 1963. It lasted three weeks.

"I SPY," which blazed a couple of trails for TV this season, has made the grade with NBC and will blaze still another trail in the months ahead.

Executive producer Sheldon Leonard successfully has demonstrated (1) that it is practical to shoot a weekly TV adventure series in actual on-location foreign locales and (2) that a Negro and a white man can be pictured in close companionship as co-stars of a TV drama.

During its first season, sequences for "I Spy" will have been filmed in Hong Kong for 9 episodes, in Japan for 9 and in Mexico for 10.

Adventures of Robert Culp and Bill Cosby as espionage agents will take them next season to such locales as Las Vegas, Palm Springs, San Francisco and Carmel, Calif., and then to Europe and North Africa.

The co-stars and a production crew will be in Italy for five weeks, then move on to such places as Spain, the Greek Islands, and North Africa.

GENE BARRY wound up his days on ABC as "Amos Burke, Secret Agent" last week, but he will be back April 9 — as guest host on ABC's "Hollywood Palace" show.

Three Are Hurt By Accidents In Hancock County

Three persons, including an East Liverpool man and a Hookstown area woman, were injured in separate accidents Wednesday night and today in Hancock County.

Roger Edwards of 136 W. 3rd St. was treated at City Hospital for a possible neck injury in a mishap Wednesday night at Newell.

Edwards told hospital officials he had to stop suddenly and his auto was rammed from the rear. The sheriff's office said it had no information on the accident.

Mrs. Millie Steele of Hookstown R. D. 1 was treated at the hospital at 7:05 p. m. for bruises suffered in a collision on Taylor's Bend near Chester.

Mrs. Steele was taken to the hospital by ambulance after her 1965 station wagon was hit by a 1965 sedan operated by Alphonso Chesnos, 46, of Pittsburgh.

Stella Nicholas of Weirton was admitted to Weirton General Hospital with injuries suffered in a one-car mishap on Route 66 about 7 a. m. today. She is in "good" condition.

Deputies said she lost control of her 1965 auto on the icy highway and the car rolled on its side into a ditch. Damage was estimated at approximately $500.

Randolph, Slack Of West Virginia Seek Re-Election

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., planned to file with the secretary of state this afternoon as a candidate for renomination in the May 10 primary.

Randolph and Rep. John M. Slack Jr. of Charleston, another Democrat, announced Wednesday that they would run for re-election.

Randolph, 63, of Elkins, was elected to the Senate in 1958 to fill an unexpired term and was re-elected in 1960. Earlier, he served seven terms in the House. Slack, 50, was first elected in 1958 to represent West Virginia's 3rd Congressional District.

In a statement, Randolph praised the work of the 89th Congress and said he supports "all endeavors for an honorable peace in Viet Nam."

Slack said he would campaign only on the issues this year, and said the issues are plentiful.

State Sen. V. K. Knapp, a Hurricane Republican, filed for renomination in the 4th Senatorial District Wednesday. He is seeking his second term.

Damage Set At $900 In Fire At Wellsville

Fire of undetermined origin caused $900 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Halfhill of 813 Commerce St., Wellsville, Wednesday at 1:10 p. m.

Firemen said the blaze was discovered by a passerby, Dudley Havelock, a former volunteer fireman.

Halfhill was at work at the time and Mrs. Halfhill had gone to a store. While returning home, she stopped at a neighbor's for a visit.

Havelock ran into the adjoining home to telephone firemen. It turned out to be the home where Mrs. Halfhill was visiting.

Firemen said the blaze was in the corner of an upstairs bedroom. Damage was estimated at $500 to the building and $400 to the contents.

Elderly Blind Woman Dies In W. Va. Blaze

By The Associated Press

Fires in West Virginia have killed two persons — one an elderly blind woman who died in the hallway of a Charleston apartment building.

Firemen said Mrs. Margie Penn, 89, apparently was overcome by smoke and fumes as she groped her way toward a rear door. No other residents were hurt Wednesday in the blaze, but two firemen suffered minor burns.

James Kincaid, 45, died Wednesday in a fire at his house trailer at Lanark, about four miles north of Beckley. Firemen said the blaze began when Kincaid tried to thaw frozen water pipes with a blowtorch.

Proposes Feb. 1 As Date

Johnson Invites India's New Leader To Visit Him

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Johnson today invited India's new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, to visit him in Washington soon to discuss the "many momentous problems we both face."

Johnson invited Mrs. Gandhi to keep the Feb. 1 date her predecessor, the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, had for a visit to the United States.

Johnson added: "I also recognize that your new burdens of office may make this difficult and if you are unable to come then I hope that we can reschedule your visit for an early date so that we can discuss the many momentous problems we both face."

Johnson's letter was delivered by U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles during a 25-minute call on Mrs. Gandhi. He also delivered a letter from Vice President Hubert Humphrey which said the American people "rejoice in the election of the new leader of India."

Shastri had been scheduled to visit the United States to discuss American economic aid to India, cut off during the India-Pakistan war in September, and the whole range of U.S.-Indian relations. Mrs. Gandhi indicated Wednesday she is willing to visit Washington, saying the matter was up to President Johnson.

However, she is likely to be preoccupied for the time being with problems at home. India's opposition parties indicated today that she will come under heavy attack soon.

Despite her Congress Party's overwhelming majority in Parliament, a serious political attack would greatly complicate her task of seeking solutions for India's immense economic and foreign policy problems.

Of all the opposition groups, only the pro-Moscow Communists published the customary congratulations on Mrs. Gandhi's election Wednesday to succeed Shastri.

Other political factions were openly bitter that the governing Congress party had given the nod to Jawaharlal Nehru's 48-year-old daughter.

Socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia declared: "We will have a pretty face for a time and she will be burdened with the weight of her father's and Mr. Shastri's misdeeds. To that we can safely add the burden of her own misdeeds."

Backed by party king makers, Mrs. Gandhi defeated rightist Morarji Desai 350-169 when Congress party members of Parliament elected a new majority leader. She was automatically asked to form a new government.

Much of the opposition's fire was directed at Shastri's last foreign policy move — and Mrs. Gandhi's promise to defend that move.

This is the Tashkent declaration Shastri signed Jan. 10, the day before he died, with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. They pledged to seek a peaceful solution to the differences which have taken their two countries to war twice since 1947.

In her first news conference after her election, she said she would continue the policies of nonalignment and socialism her father established for India.

"Mr. Shastri was continuing the basic policies of my father and the accepted policies of the Congress party," she said. "I cannot naturally deviate from the policies which have been passed by our party."

Mrs. Gandhi said she favors President Johnson's Viet Nam peace offensive since she supports any move for peace anywhere.

Truman 'Peace Center' Plan Bared By Johnson

Establishment of the Harry S. Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace was announced Wednesday by President Johnson, who will be on hand for the ceremony.

The center will be a multimillion-dollar structure, financed privately, on the campus of the Hebrew University Jerusalem — a city holy to three of the world's major faiths. The university donated the grounds.

Purpose of the center will be to use all scientific and humane means leading to the isolation and destruction of the causes of war. It will also make an annual $50,000 Harry S. Truman Award for Peace.

David Noyes, a long-time friend of the former president, quietly headed the funds campaign. He said 37 founders already have contributed $100,000 each.

President Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Samuel Rothberg, board chairman of American Friends of the Hebrew University, speak at the inaugural ceremonies. Truman was to make a response.

Ranking officials and representatives of foreign governments also were expected.

The trip is the fourth Johnson has made to Truman's home grounds since he became President. Johnson signed the medicare bill in the library auditorium last July 30; he stopped overnight June 24 last year to have breakfast with Truman en route to the 20th anniversary celebration of the United Nations in San Francisco; and he interrupted his election campaign Oct. 21, 1964, to visit for 25 minutes with the ex-president who was in a hospital recovering from a fall.

Johnson also made four trips as vice president to visit Truman, one of them to help celebrate the former presideent's 78th birthday. Truman will be 82 on May 8.

The White House announcement said the center will be an interfaith, interracial institution, not identified with any country. It will include the establishment of 12 permanent chairs for the pursuit of peace.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is a night I will never forget," said Enrique Negron, 56, a Puerto Rican. "I shall always remember this night as one that shows people care."

Negron had just been presented a $250 check by policemen and proclaimed a hero for the second time in eight months.

Last May he aided a white policeman under attack by a mob of Negroes. But his friends took a dim view of the act. They boycotted his grocery store and forced him out of business, he said.

When his plight became known, Negron was honored again with job offers and a dinner Wednesday night by the Police Reserve Association.

A Supreme Court justice ruled Wednesday that the right of a producer to final cutting and editing is limited to the original or theatrical production and not to television showings.

Preminger had sought a permanent injunction to keep the film intact during television showings.

But Justice Arthur G. Klein said the right to interrupt motion picture showings on television for commercials and to make "minor deletions" to fit the time requirements has been considered a "normal and essential part of the exhibition of motion pictures on television."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Renoir, screenwriter - director and son of impressionist painter Pierre Auguste Renoir, is out of the hospital after undergoing tests and treatment for a kidney infection. He entered the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last Thursday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men closely associated with President John F. Kennedy are in line for new jobs. Both have written best sellers about the Kennedy administration.

They are Theodore C. Sorensen, former special counsel to Kennedy, and historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., a Kennedy adviser.

Sorensen, who wrote the book "Kennedy," has accepted a position with the New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison.

'No Danger,' Navy Says As Missile Fell

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Navy says there was never any danger when a surface-to-air nuclear missile fell "several feet" while being handled above the deck of the USS Luce.

"I feel as safe around one of these, if dropped, as around a five-inch bullet," said the commanding officer of the Luce, Capt. Dixon Lademer.

Nevertheless, plenty of people were jittery.

The news of "a nuclear incident" was broadcast just as demolition crews, under police escort, rushed to remove the missile Wednesday. Switchboards were flooded. Sections of the Mayport Naval Air Station were sealed off.

"We took routine safety precautions because when you don't know what the danger is, you always go to extremes," said the base commander, Capt. J. S. Swope.

The device was so constructed that an explosion would have been impossible, Swope said. There was a dent near the forward portion.

But the Luce, a guided-missile frigate berthed near other ships at the mouth of the St. Johns River in northeast Florida, quickly moved to another dock.

Guided - missile frigates are equipped to carry 40 Terrier missiles. The weapons, 27 feet long and with a booster, are fired at supersonic speeds to a range of 10 nautical miles. They weigh 1½ tons.

Science Fair Set At West Liberty College In April

The eighth annual regional science fair has been scheduled for April 22 and 23 at West Liberty State College, according to Robert W. Schramm, president of the Ohio Valley Science Fairs, Inc., and professor of mathematics and physics at West Liberty.

The West Liberty Fair, an affiliate of International Science Fair, again will offer an expense - paid trip to the International Science Fair to the grand prize winner in the senior division.

Schramm pointed out other valuable prizes will be awarded in both the senior and junior divisions and that a special prize will be given the grand winner in the junior classification.

All students in grades 7 through 12 who are enrolled in any public, private or parochial school in Hancock, Ohio, Marshall, Brooke and Wetzel counties in West Virginia and Belmont and Jefferson counties in Ohio are eligible to participate.

Schramm explained that Ohio students may enter their exhibits in the West Liberty Fair or the Greater Ohio Science Fair, but not in both during the same year.

Exhibits will be classified as biology, chemistry, earth sciences, engineering, mathematics and physics. Students in grade 7-9 will comprise the junior division and those in grades 10-12 the senior division.

You have left a beautiful memory,
With sorrow too great to be told.
But to us who have loved and lost you, Your memory will never grow old.

-Junior Editors Quiz on THE AMERICAS

QUESTION: Who really discovered America?

ANSWER: Recently, some exciting discoveries have given us new knowledge about the first voyage to this continent. The Icelandic sagas, or stories, tell of the voyage of Lief Ericson, in 1000 A.D., to a country he named "Vinland" which lay to the west. This had always been believed to be America, but no proof of the Viking visit had been found. However, in 1963, the remains of a Norse settlement were found in northern Newfoundland, where the large arrow points in our map. An ancient map has also been found, drawn about 1440, which shows Vinland lying southwest from Greenland. It is now believed by many that Lief Ericson was the first white man to set foot on America.

Our map compares Leif's voyage with those of Columbus and Vespucci. No doubt Columbus' trip was the most important, since he drew the civilized world's attention to the new countries. Vespucci's trip was also extremely important since he, alone of the three, realized that the lands to the west were new continents, which was why his name Amerigo became attached to them, first to South and then North America. Many historians now feel we should credit all three of these voyagers with the discovery of our wonderful land.

FOR YOU TO DO: Study our map carefully. Our artist has drawn continents and routes correctly, but added mythical touches like the imaginary sea monster at lower left. Have fun drawing your own conception of such a "horrible peril of ye unknown seas."
